THE QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Plies to Ten Questions on Woman's Suffrage Recently Published in the Woman's Journal

The Woman's Journal publishes a series of "common sense questions," which it is claimed no opponent of suffrage has been able to answer. The questions and replies follow:

Question 1. If equal suffrage is a thing, why has it spread from the states that first adopted it to 10 neighboring states, all adjoining one another?

For the same reason that free silpism and Mormonism have spread through many of these same states. Why did slavery spread from the states until many people said it was bound to come all over the world. Neighbors copy each other's ways as well as their good ones. South Dakota has been next to an suffrage Wyoming since 1869, has nevertheless defeated suffrage popular vote both in 1910 and again in 1914. Nebraska adjoins both Wyoming and Colorado, the two states which have had suffrage longest, and Nebraska defeated woman suffrage by a large vote in 1914. Missouri borders woman suffrage Kansas and have voted against suffrage by a 600 majority. These states, after voting at close range how it works, have evidently decided that it is a bad thing.

Question 2. If the majority of the people anywhere are dissatisfied with the way there is no move to repeal it? Suffrage was repealed in New Jersey after a flagrant cheating by women. The polls. It has not yet been repealed in the Western states because the women who do not want to vote too indifferent even to protest, and do not stay away from the polls; and because woman suffrage creates an alling indifference to political evils. The Colorado electorate would view with serious protest the inactivity of the state government month after month regarding the Colorado strike, not surprising that it puts up with more insidious evils of woman suffrage. To recall woman suffrage would have to bring to the polls women opposed, the great majority of whom do not vote at all. The votes those in favor would be cast. Under the circumstances an outrageous flatteration of the evils of suffrage would have to arise before it could be drawn, as in the New Jersey case.

Question 3. If it leads mothers to neglect their children, why is the low infant death rate in the world found in New Zealand?

Because the climate is highly favorable, because the population is large, the cities new, and because the splendid system of district nursing inaugurated by a mere man, Dr. Trueby King, as a private enterprise. To determine whether legislation is benefitting the public health we must ask not whether the death rate is naturally low to begin with, but whether it is being lowered. In New Zealand the infant death rate dropped faster before women had the vote than thereafter. Furthermore, New Zealand did not pass the most important legislation bearing on this matter, the Notification of Births, until fourteen years after it had woman suffrage; and that Act was modelled upon one passed in male suffrage England. In this country, no woman suffrage city can show so large a lowering of the infant mortality rate as the male suffrage cities of New York and Boston.

Question 4. If it increases divorce, why did Colorado grant 935 divorces the year before women were given the ballot and only 597 the year after?

If it does not increase divorce why should Colorado have 409 divorces to every 100,000 of married population, while Nebraska, an adjoining male suffrage state has only 238? Why should the divorce rate per 100,000 of married population in Washington be 513, in Colorado 409, in Idaho 347, in Oregon 368, in Wyoming 361, while in Missouri, where suffrage was recently overwhelmingly defeated, it is only 281, in South Dakota only 270, and North Dakota 268?

Question 5. If it is demoralizing, why did only 62 out of 624 ministers and editors in the suffrage states replying to Julia Ward Howe's letter of inquiry give an unfavorable opinion?

There were in 1910, when Mrs. Howe's inquiry was made, about 700 editors in the suffrage states and 771 clergymen in the five denominations—Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian, Congregational, and Episcopalian—to whom her letter was sent. Out of these 1471, only 35 per cent were willing to be recorded as favoring suffrage. 65 per cent were either opposed or too indifferent to reply. Under these circumstances why should it be assumed that a majority favored woman suffrage? It is significant that Mrs. Howe did not desire the opinion of the Roman Catholic clergy.

Question 6. If the majority of women are opposed, why have only about 1 per cent of the women in the United States joined the widely advertised national association opposed to woman suffrage, according to that association's own figures?

We maintain that the vast majority are either opposed to woman suffrage or totally indifferent to the question. (Continued on Page 8)

NEW PRESIDENT ELECTED

Annual Dinner and Meeting of the Newton Y. M. C. A.

The Annual Meeting of the Association was held in the Assembly Hall of the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday evening, May 4th. After the dinner, which was served by the Social Committee of the Woman's Auxiliary, President Allan C. Emery called the meeting to order. The report of the Nominating Committee favored the re-election of the following directors to serve for three years: D. F. Barber, J. W. Blaisdell, A. W. Fuller, Wm. E. Litchfield and S. M. Sayford. The following reports for the different activities of the work were given by members of the Association.

Boys' Work, C. L. Ellison; Boys' Cabinet, Chase Kepner; Athletics, C. V. Moore; Physical Work and Skating Rink, F. D. Fuller; Baseball, Louis Bink; Dormitories, D. Webster Anderson; Basket Ball, John M. Mackenzie; Hand Ball, Dr. H. C. Spencer; Senior Class, Edward Johnson; Foreign Work, F. W. Gansle; Tennis, Finley Hutton, Jr.; Socials and Open House, Wm. R. Ferry; Bowling, Wm. Cady; Fellowship Club, Mayor E. O. Childs; "What membership in the Newton Y. M. C. A. has meant and means to me today"; D. F. Barber, Theodore Morton.

The guest and chief speaker of the evening was Rev. A. J. Muste, pastor of Central Church.

After the Annual Meeting the new Board of Directors met for organization and chose Mr. C. D. Kepner for president to succeed Allan C. Emery, and Mr. E. O. Childs, vice-president, and C. V. Moore clerk. The election of treasurer to succeed J. W. Blaisdell was put over until the next meeting.

Mr. Kepner, the new president, has been Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Association for the past two years and is well qualified for the office to which he has been elected. It would be hard to estimate the value of the work of Mr. Allan C. Emery, the retiring president. For the past seven years he has held that office and it has been due to his efforts largely that the Association has accomplished such a good work in the city. Mr. Emery remains on the Board of Directors and will continue to be active in Association work.

ANTI SUFFRAGE TEA

A tea for the Anti Suffrage Association will be held on Tuesday afternoon, May 11, at the residence of Mrs. Swan Hartwell, 175 Temple street, West Newton, at half after two o'clock. Mrs. William Lowell Putnam of Boston will speak. Tea and refreshments will be served. There will be a fee of twenty-five cents.—Advt.

NEW CHURCH DEDICATED

Interesting Event at the Church of the Redeemer, Chestnut Hill

The new church edifice of the Church of the Redeemer (Episcopal) at Chestnut Hill was dedicated Sunday by Bishop William Lawrence in the presence of a large congregation. The Bishop was assisted by Rev. Lucien W. Rogers, who has had charge of the parish, for the last three years. Senior Warden William Blodgett turned the church over to Bishop Lawrence.

Other assisting clergymen were Rev. Dr. Frederick Palmer of Cambridge, Rev. George W. Sargent of Boston, Rev. Dr. Howard of McGill University, Rev. Dr. Lake of Cambridge, Rev. Mr. Merriett of Sharon.

The new church replaces the wooden structure, which was built nearly twenty-four years ago as a free-will offering of the late Mrs. Augustus Lowell, in whose memory mural tablets are now being placed in position. The new church was designed by Mr. Henry Vaughan of this city, whose work, exemplified in the Groton School Chapel and the chapel of St. Paul's School, Concord, and the two famous chapels in the Cathedral of St. John, the Divine, New York, is well known to admirers of this style of architecture.

The spirit of the design is the fourteenth century English Gothic, with a deep chancel, at the right of which is a small chapel for early morning and Lenten service. The outer walls are of local stone and the interior woodwork is of dark oak. Below the church proper is a large sun-lighted (Continued on Page 2.)

ADOPT RESOLUTIONS

Protesting Against Charges of Immorality at High School

At a large meeting of the girls of the Newton High School held Monday afternoon, the following resolutions were adopted in answer to a letter published last week in a local paper, alleging that the morals of the girls of the High School were low.

"We are drawn together today by one accord by a great wave of indignation at the injustice done to the Newton High School by the 'rumor' which was published in a local paper last week and copied by some of the Boston dailies to be widely circulated among the community. We are here today to show our confidence in the girls of our schools.

"We all appreciate our splendid teaching force and their interest in us and their careful supervision over us. We appreciate our school and the fine reputation which it bears among graduates and educators, and we are grateful for the advantages and protection of home life while attending school, because we know that the whole sentiment of the young women of this school is sound and whole some and that their principles and ideals are high.

"Be it resolved, that we make formal protest against the injustice and the untruthfulness of this report."

A counterfeit smile is one that starts at the lips instead of the heart.

SHADE TREES

Interesting Talk Before Newton Improvement Association by Mrs. Fred H. Tucker

The following interesting talk on Shade Trees was given last week before the Newton Improvement Association by Mrs. Fred H. Tucker of Church street.

People are coming more and more to realize that trees have a distinctly human interest. We do not raise and care for trees for their own sake any more than other crops or than domestic animals. The economic value of forests or trees in Massachusetts is plain for it is hard to see how civilization could be maintained without wood, and there are less obvious forest functions of probably equal importance.

The economic value of shade trees however is harder to estimate. How much do good shade trees increase the value of the dwellings before which they stand? What is it worth to a city to keep its streets planted with well cared for trees of good species? What is the market value of everyday beauty, comfort and spiritual appeal? Various attempts have been made to estimate these assets with the result that street trees are said to increase the value of residential property from 50 per cent downward according to the trees, the locality and other considerations. An apparently conservative estimate recently made of the shade trees of New Jersey puts their value at $17,000,000.

Now if shade trees really are worth so much as this just in mere dollars and cents, would it not seem at least good business to provide as carefully for their establishment, protection, and repair as for the houses whose value they enhance? Instead of that it is common enough to see attractive houses in good repair behind street trees in every stage of dilapidation, or perhaps no trees at all. To many people a tree is a tree, little matter what its kind or condition so long as it puts forth a fair amount of foliage and is not too visibly infested with insects. Besides a house belongs to an individual, sometimes an absentee, while the street trees belong to the whole public. If a citizen is discriminating enough to know that the trees before his house want repairing or that more trees are needed it is not only hard for him to secure that share of the general appropriation but the question of what to do so as to do it right may finally involve changing tree conditions all along the street.

In order therefore to secure proper planting and care of street trees throughout a town or city with an equitable apportionment of the appropriation it is necessary to have a comprehensive and unified plan made by an expert and carried out under his management. To this end a tree census must be taken. This census tabulates the location, species, size, condition and needs of every tree, with its relation to other trees and to general surroundings. To this data are added from time to time records of work done or changes made. Such a census of the street trees of Newton has just been taken by our Forest Commissioner, Mr. Colton, as a basis for systematic work so far as possible.

Of all the evils which afflict trees perhaps wounds cause more mischief than everything else together. If the bark of a tree, which is its protection, could be kept perfectly whole throughout root, trunk, branch and twig it would be virtually immune to fungus spores and to large classes of insect enemies and would by this very fact have the vigor to resist other ills. Yet how lightly are these wounds regarded. Often they are not even noticed. Wheels and lawn mowers tear the bark and horses gnaw it; branches are pruned with no regard to healing conditions or are broken off by storms or ice. Electric wires cause most serious damage to trees through which they pass and the cutting of brown tail nests has caused much injury and disfigurement to which we can be reconciled only as the lesser evil, while roots are cut back often to the point of destruction for sidewalks and paving.

How to bring about better conditions is a complex problem. Further injury to tree trunks should be prevented by proper guards upon all exposed trees. Comparatively few trees in Newton have guards and most of these guards are poor or poorly set up so that the trunks are more injured by them than protected. Damage from wires is a matter for firm and persistent adjustment with the Electric Companies. All mutilated trees that are worth saving need immediate treatment. Each tree is a separate problem requiring expert skill and judgment. Small wounds as well as large ones need treatment. Trees that are a menace because of weakness or disease should be removed and a campaign of tree planting should be carried on which would in a few years transform the street conditions of Newton. This planting, like tree repair, requires the utmost skill and judgment both for selecting proper species for a given locality and for surmounting the difficulties of our city streets most of which are as ill adapted as possible for the accommodation of trees. But there is one simple requirement which can always be met—with incidentally a great saving of expense—but which is nevertheless usually disregarded. This is proper spacing. Street trees should with few exceptions be planted at least 40 or 50 feet apart, seldom less than 50 feet.

A letter alleging the existence of immorality in our High Schools, written by a woman who ought to have known better, and its publication by a newspaper which ought to have used more discretion, have given this city considerable undesirable notoriety during the past week. The rumors of immorality at the High School are not new and the editor of the GRAPHIC has undertaken several times to investigate the subject but could find no substantial basis for them. It is probably true that in a body of nearly 2000 young people, there are some whose standards of living and of morals are not as high as the great majority of the pupils, but such facts do not justify the general statement that immorality exists in the school. Supervision of the pupils while in the school appears to be sufficient, and if parents would take some care over their children, while on their way to and from the school, watching over their companions, preventing the girls from associating with boys whose habits are not of the best, and in general exercising the ordinary duties of parents, there will be but little danger of a repetition of this unfortunate affair.

The declination of Mr. Allan C. Emery to serve again as president of the Newton Y. M. C. A. is a matter of deep regret to all who are aware of Mr. Emery's intense enthusiasm and interest in the splendid work which the Association has been doing particularly in recent years. Mr. Emery's service covered a period of passing from the old building into the new, with its fine equipment for work, and his administration had many important problems to solve.

The Association is extremely fortunate in having for its new president, Mr. Charles D. Kepner, a successful business man, with high ideals and courage and enthusiasm to bring to the work.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The bill prohibiting transportation of liquor into No-license communities has had some peculiar parliamentary situations during the past two weeks. Passed by both House and Senate and placed before the Governor, it was suggested that possibly the bill was framed so broadly as to prevent the transportation "thru" as well as "into" a No-license community, and the Governor requested its recall by the Senate until the opinion of the attorney general could be obtained on this important point. The Senate accordingly voted to recall the bill, but as it required unanimous consent in order to reconsider the enactment, it was found impossible to take such action as Senator McLean of Fall River entered objections. The bill was therefore neither before the Senate or before the Governor and for the past ten days has been on the desk of the Clerk of the Senate. Yesterday Mr. Atwill rendered an opinion that the bill would not prevent transportation "thru" a No-license community, although he said frankly that it was a doubtful question. The Senate has therefore ordered the bill sent to the Governor again for his action.

The House had a long debate yesterday morning on the pending amendment to the constitution in regard to taxation, discussing the advisability of postponing action until a later time. Postponement was refused, however, and the amendment adopted with but 7 votes against it.

There was considerable opposition to the various taxation bills recommended by Governor Walsh, city solicitor Bishop opposing the bill to turn over to the state the taxes now paid by certain public service corporations to the different cities and towns. This bill would add 41 cents to our present tax rate, the treasury losing about $35,000.

Mr. W. H. Rand, Jr., of the Commonwealth Trust Co. opposed the bill to require banks to furnish the Tax Commissioner with a list of bond holders. The committee on Taxation has voted to report a recess commission to consider important taxation matters and report to the next Legislature. As there have been numerous recess commissions on these matters, this method is probably a means for ducking action on them at the present time. The committee has also reported the franchise tax bill and a drastic bill to give the Tax Commissioner authority to revise assessments made by any board of assessors.

The production of "The Birth of the Nation" at the Tremont Theatre has brought a number of bills seeking to regulate the business of moving pictures, some of them extremely radical. Former representative James A. Lowell of this city, acting for the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children presented a bill to create a new department with the chief of the district police as head of a board of censorship on all picture shows.

Another interesting measure was introduced upon this week when Election Laws presented a bill to allow women to serve on political committees, it having been found that under present laws, the ladies would not be allowed to handle their own campaign for adoption of the equal suffrage amendment which will be acted upon in November.

Senator Ellis, who was in charge of a bill aimed to regulate the use of hotels for immoral purposes, has had the bill amended so as to exempt persons who use a private room simply for dining purposes, and it is now on its way to the Governor.

In the House last week, Representative Allen at first voted in favor of $15,000 for investigation of the Telephone Company while Representatives Bothfield and Weston voted with the minority against the bill. On the final passage of the bill Mr. Allen voted with Mr. Weston, against adoption and Mr. Bothfield was not recorded.

The bill to authorize the reorganization of the Boston & Maine has passed the Senate, Mr. Ellis voting for the bill after his amendment had been defeated.

The pure milk and bread bills have passed both branches and now wait action by the Governor.

The Newton High tennis players made an excellent showing against the strong Huntington School team Tuesday on the courts of the Newton Center Squash Tennis Club, winning three matches to two. Newton lost one match in both singles and doubles, but each was won only after the game went into extra sets. Thursday afternoon the team will meet the Brookline High School at Newton Centre, and as considerable rivalry exists between the two schools and both schools have strong teams, several good matches are looked for.

Newton High, which has three players on the Harvard Varsity nine, has every reason to be proud of her production. They are Wilmet Whitney, who allowed Colby College only one hit this week; Henry Nash, the first baseman, and Judd Beal, who has replaced Frank Fripp on third base. Another Message to the Business Men of Newton

Business fights shy of dead towns. A sure sign of a dead one is the lack of local life. People who live in a live, prosperous town show it. Their stores are attractive, their streets clean, their homes are well painted. Nothing shows a lack of pride, a lack of prosperity, like paint-hungry buildings. Let's paint up. As the most durable and economical paint, we recommend pure line seed oil, mixed right on the job, to suit the job. Have your painter put it in any color you wish. We carry all other paint necessities also. Consult us on that job of painting you have in mind. Today's the day.

NEWTONVILLE IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION SECURES WALLACE NUTTING AS LECTURER

The annual meeting of the Newtonville Improvement Association has been signalized each year by the appearance of some lecturer of note. This year the association has been fortunate in securing Wallace Nutting, maker of the famous "Nutting Photographs" who will talk on "Old New England Houses and their Furnishings" illustrated by many beautiful lantern slides made by himself. In addition to this Mr. Nutting will draw upon his fine collection of photographs of gardens, roadside scenes, brooks, etc., including wonderful examples of blossom season for which his pictures are famous. It is however in the realm of old time homes with their attractive interiors, reanimated by the figures and costumes of the period, that Mr. Nutting is seen at his best, and this will form the main part of his lecture and accompanying views. Guest tickets can be secured from members of the association and a large attendance of those interested will be welcomed.

A notable event of the past week was the dinner dance on Friday evening at the Brookline Country Club. There were about one hundred and fifty guests present including the members of the Dancing Supper Club and their friends, numbering about twenty. Dinner was served at 7 o'clock after which dancing continued until 12 when a supper was served. The decorations were especially attractive in a scheme of yellow and green with ferns and jonquils. A profusion of the golden spring blossoms were festooned about the hall which was lighter by various colored electric globes. Guests were present from Newton Centre, West Newton, Auburndale and Newton.

ANNUAL DINNER

The members of the Men's Club of Grace Church held their annual dinner on the evening of Monday, April 26th, in the parish house. There was the usual large attendance, and it was a very pleasant social occasion. Dinner was served at half-past six, after which the annual business meeting and election of officers was held.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: Mr. Grosvenor Calkins, president; Mr. Walter R. Forbush, vice-president; Mr. Walter B. Sharp, secretary and treasurer.

CURT THEATRE—Everyone is familiar with Mrs. Shelley's story of "Dr. Frankenstein." In this yarn a giant mummy is imbued with life, but lacks the moral instincts of a normal human being. Pursuing the same lines, Paul Dickey and Charles W. Goddard, authors of "The Ghost Breaker" and "The Misdemeanor Lady," have written a three act farce called "The Last Laugh." The Messrs. Shubert will present Edward Abeles in this play at the Court Theatre for a limited engagement. The cast will include besides Mr. Abeles, Miss Inez Plummer, Marion Murray, Gertrude Clemens, Henry Harmon, Everett Butterfield, Stephen Maley, Albert Gran, Robert Lawrence, George Abbott, Frederick Wallace, Bert Mein, Bernard Riggs and others. In "The Last Laugh" the authors do not attempt the weird, but treat their subject in a highly amusing manner.

SHUBERT THEATRE—One of the most sensational successes of the season is "The Revolt," presented at the Shubert Theatre, Boston, the past week. The second week of this great success begins next Monday, May 10th. It comes to Boston direct from the successful engagement at Maxine Elliott's Theatre, New York City, with the original New York cast and production. "The Revolt" is a graphic picture of a home disrupted by a husband's selfish desire to live his life according to his own sensual desires. Vincent Serrano, as the profligate husband, is seen to an excellent advantage. The part of the revolting wife is played by Alma Berwin with fervor and dramatic power. Matinees are given on Wednesday and Saturday.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—This is the last week of "Common Clay," the prize play which has had such a phenomenal run this winter at the Castle Square Theatre. On Saturday night it will have completed its seventeenth week and will have played 204 performances. "Maggie Pepper," the department store play in which Rose Stahl starred successfully, will be the bill for next week. Doris Olsson, an old favorite at the Castle Square, will return and open in the title role of the play. Theodore Friebus will also return to the company.

WILBUR THEATRE—"A Pair of Sixes" will be seen at the Wilbur Theatre for the twentieth and last week, starting Monday, May 10, when the inauguration of the very last week of the phenomenal run in Boston will be commemorated by the presentation of handsome Souvenirs consisting of beautiful silver frames fitted with photographs of Frank McIntire and other members of the company. "A Pair of Sixes" is the greatest laughing hit Boston has ever known. If any further endorsement were needed beyond the enthusiastic words of praise from the leading Boston critics, it might in truth be said that the Wilbur Theatre is being taxed to its utmost capacity at every performance. Matinee performances are given Wednesday and Saturday afternoon as usual.

CENSUS NOTICE

As the State Census is nearing completion, the Census Bureau would appreciate it, if any persons who have reason to feel that they have not been enumerated, would kindly communicate their names and addresses (giving not only their street and number, but the name of their city or town) to the Census Office, 24 Mt. Vernon street, Boston. In every Census there are those who think they have not been enumerated, because they have not personally come in contact with an enumerator, and they are requested before writing to the office that they have been omitted, to endeavor to ascertain from some member of the family whether their names have been given to a Census Enumerator.

"A TRIP TO LONDON"

On Tuesday evening of last week the members of the Newton Lodge, Knights of Pythias, enjoyed a trip to London at the expense of Chancellor Commander William H. Stanton.

Mr. Stanton was born in England and spent many years there before coming to America. Altho he has lived in this country thirty years, his remembrance and knowledge of affairs in England are as keen as ever, and his discussion of the affairs, customs, and manners of the English was thoroughly entertaining and greatly enjoyed by those present. At the next meeting on Tuesday evening, May 11th, the rank of Page, will be conferred on four applicants. It is the intention of the Lodge, to have "something doing," at every convention.

LECTURE AT LASSELL

The entire student body and faculty of Lassel Seminary attended a most interesting and instructive illustrated lecture at the Gymnasium, Thursday evening May 6, on "America's Place in the Shoe Industry," by William F. Hall, of the United Shoe Machinery Company. The speaker was introduced by Principal G. M. Winslow, who spoke of the generosity of the United Shoe Machinery Company in giving the students an opportunity to see the wonderful moving picture of the making of Goodrich Wt. Shoes, as well as beautiful stereopticon slides.

Mr. Hall spoke of America's position in the world as a shoe manufacturing country, and pointed with considerable pride to the fact that America originates the shoe styles for the world—"Made in Paris," "Germany," and other foreign names, has no real selling value in shoes that is manifested in women's wearing apparel generally.

The speaker told many interesting stories of shoe legends and beliefs, and traced from the beginning to the present day the methods employed in manufacturing footwear.

Many colored stereopticon slides showing the styles of centuries ago were very popular with the audience, and at the conclusion Mr. Hall gave an interesting account of the development of shoe machinery, closing with the organization of the United Shoe Machinery Company and the things accomplished in the industry since this concern concentrated in its enormous plant at Beverly, Mass.

Several months ago Mr. Hall delivered lectures at the Newton Technical High School and they proved very popular and instructive.

"MR. BOB"

The fifth annual Senior play was presented by the class of 1915 in the Newton Technical High School Hall, Friday and Saturday evenings, April 30 and May 1. The offering was a two-act comedy, "Mr. Bob."

The reporter, strong in his opinion that amateur theatricals never begin on time, sauntered past the ticket taker only to be told that the show was on. The High School orchestra had finished the overture, and the fun had started. The cast deserves credit for promptness.

The play is so well known that it is not worth while to even outline the plot. "Mr. Bob" always proves a success, and produces peals of laughter. As "Jenkins, a butler," James Armstrong was in his element; especially in the scenes with his adored one, "Patty."

There are few young girls who can portray maiden lady parts well; therefore, Miss Marion O'Connell deserves all the more praise for her acting as "Rebecca Luke." Miss O'Connell's gestures, her voice, her every movement was in keeping with the part.

The stage-aspiring "Patty" was made very attractive by Miss Margaret Boughan.

Miss Ruth Spencer appeared as "Katherine Rogers," and shared in the applause for her good work.

The most popular fellow in the school, Elliott Stickney, Philip Ikeyson, the young doctor, certainly carried his share of the honors. The meeting of "Philip" with the man "who just came down" was splendidly done.

"Marion Bryant" alias "Mr. Bob" was Miss Lillian Jefford who did her share in making the production a memorable one.

And last, but by no means least, comes Ralph Davis. Davis had to take the difficult part, "Robert Brown." One of Ralph's classmates was heard to say, "I didn't know he had it in him. He lived the part."

Between the acts flowers were given to Miss Boughan, and the coach who did admirable work, Miss Wetherbee.

After which the N. T. H. S. Girls' Glee Club rendered the Bridal Chorus from "The Rose Maiden." Miss Claire Kincaid, 15, sang, and for an encore, delighted the gathering with "The Birth or Morn." "Kentucky Babe," by the Glee Club followed, and then the curtain rose for the last act.

There was a larger attendance Saturday night than Friday, but both nights the audience was very appreciative, and expressed great delight in "Mr. Bob."

Dancing in the gym. till eleven ended the evening. The music was furnished by members of the Colonial Orchestra of Waltham.

The patronesses were Mrs. Wheeler, Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. Maxine, Mrs. Harrington, Mrs. Wingate, Mrs. Parlin, Mrs. Quick, Mrs. Doherty, and Mrs. Robinson.

The Business Committee, which had charge of the play, consisted of John Connors, manager; assistants, Earle Conn, and Edmund Gilligan; Mr. Stanley was the faculty member.

Francis Quick did very efficient work as stage manager. His assistants were Miss Burgess, John Kellar, Frank Hawkins, and Edwin McGill.

VOTES TO WOMEN A FAILURE

Woman suffrage has proved such a failure in the State of Washington that thousands of those who helped to adopt it four years ago would today gladly vote for a return to male suffrage if given the opportunity, according to Judge W. H. Snell of Tacoma, who is staying at the Beaconsfield, Brookline, with his wife and family.

RECEPTION

Rev. James Watson Campbell, D.D. and Mrs. Campbell were tendered a large reception this week on Tuesday evening by the members of the Ladies Aid Society of the Newtonville Methodist Church.

The vestry was beautifully decorated for the occasion with pink roses, pink carnations and palms. In the dining-hall where an elaborate collation was served the table decorations were especially attractive. There was a large silver centerpiece with branches extending to each corner of the table, in which pink roses were arranged,
most effectively. Mrs. John F. Brant and Mrs. Don M. Leonard poured, and among the young ladies who assisted in serving were the Misses Marguerite and Pauline Brant, Bessie Cousens, Alice Terrell, Ruth Pillman, Lucy Phil-man, Etta Duff and Beatrice Cooke.

A trio almost hidden in an alcove of palms and roses, rendered a select program of music during the reception;
it included Miss Edith Soden, cellist, Miss Marjorie Soden, violinist and Miss Alice Soden, pianist, and the young ladies who are exceptionally gifted and accomplished and justly entitled to rank as artists of the first order, were honored repeatedly.

The receiving party stood in a bower, which was literally banked with palms, roses, and carnations, and on the piano, and surrounding tables, vases and baskets filled with roses were arranged artistically.

The decorations were under the direction of Mrs. Rich and Mrs. Hildeth, and the refreshments were in charge of Mrs. Brant and Mrs. Leonard. In the receiving line with Dr.
and Mrs. Campbell were Mrs. William T. Rich of the Official Board and Miss Caroline Gilman, the president of the Ladies Aid Society.

Mrs. Campbell was charmingly gowned in white chiffon over blue silk with corsage bouquet of pink sweet peas. Mrs. Rich wore a handsome gown of black net over black satin, with diamond ornaments, and Miss Gilman was very attractively attired in a dainty gown of blue messaline with overdress of white lace. There were more than two hundred guests present to welcome Dr. Campbell, who has become very dear to his flock, and they freely expressed their appreciation of him, and the great pleasure it gave them to know that he will continue to be their pastor.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor

It was with great satisfaction that the members of the Newton Federation heard in the report of Social Service committee at the annual meeting that three of the efforts over which the committee has been working for a number of years are about to reach culmination. With the holding of the first annual meeting of the Newton Welfare Bureau this week and the opening of its office in the near future
"we see materialized the dream which has taxed our patience so long." In compliance with the demand from the State, Newton must open a hospital for its tuberculosis patients before July 1st. The portable house with its extension piazza, which now stands upon the Hospital grounds and is owned by the Federation, will be contributed for use as a free dispensary for tuberculosis patients and a regular hospital built in the near future. The third effort, the dental clinic, is also about to pass out from the Federation's direct management, the dentists who have been giving their services to the clinic having assumed it, until such time as there shall be a dental clinic for school children supported by the City, or a City Dentist, as we now have a City Physician. The Federation will continue to provide money for it.

The successful issue of these endeavors is directly due to the untiring efforts and quiet persistence of the chairman, Mrs. B. E. Taylor, and few who have not been directly associated with this work can ever realize all that it has meant.

Mrs. F. S. Keith entertained the Club at its annual meeting on May 1st. At this meeting Mrs.
A. L. Pratt completed a most masterly and comprehensive review of Shakespeare's plays; very interesting papers and discussions being given on, The Clowns and Fools of Shakespeare, Comparison of Shakespeare's Women with those of Milton and Wordsworth, Comparison of the Sophistophiles with Shakespeare's Iago and Richard III, and the Plays in which Women were the apparent Causes of Tragedy.

for the coming year: President, Mrs.
W. E. Moore; vice-president, Miss McKee; treasurer, Mrs. E. J. Smith; auditor, Miss Mary Newhall; executive

Mick, Mrs. H. W. Drew.

On Monday, May 3rd, Mrs. Hubert Carter was hostess for the annual meeting of the Newton Mothers' Club.
A dainty and delicious luncheon was served, after which came the business meeting. The reports showed an amount of good work done, both in the way of inspiration to its members and in practical ways. The club has made generous contributions to Playground Club, to the Household
Nursing Association, to the Floating Hospital, to the Blind Babies' Hospital, to the Settlement Work for Boys, to the Mothers' Rest at Newton Centre.
The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Hubert L.
Carter; vice-president, Mrs. C. S. Cook, Jr.; secretary, Mrs. Stanley M. Bolster; treasurer, Mrs. Eustace B. Rice; chairman of charity committee, Mrs. J. J.
Mitchell, Jr.

At the meeting of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. on Monday afternoon Mrs. G. Q. Hill completed her paper on "The Modern Woman and this was followed by the discussion of various modern problems of economics. There were the usual annual reports of officers and of the work committee. The club has decided to study next year the Past History of Belgium, its Art and Literature, and to devote a part of the year to the consideration of Contemporary English Literature. Those officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. C. Peter Clark of Newton Centre; vice-president, Mrs.
E. G. Swift; secretary, Miss Marion Dorr; assistant secretary, Mrs. Fred Hayward; treasurer, Mr. Emory Clark.

On Wednesday morning the Social Science Club held a fine meeting of the season, with the new president, Mrs. Sterling Elliott, in the chair. A list of the newly appointed committees was read and approved, after which Mr. George Royal Pulsifer, Treasurer of the Newton Hospital, gave a most interesting talk upon the Hospital. He traced its growth from 1904 to 1914 and mentioned as some of the future needs, a ward for measles patients, a home for convalescents, out-patient departments in various parts of the City and a building with private rooms for patients of moderate means. At the present time, he said, there are abundant provisions for the rich and the very poor, but little for those in moderate circumstances.

Several women prominent in club work in Newton have joined the new Women's Civic Club of Boston, which meets at the home of Colonial Families on Newbury street. The president is Mrs. W. E. Birdsall of Newton and the treasurer, Mrs. J. I. Wazate of Auburndale. At the last meeting Miss Edith Haynes, a practicing lawyer, spoke on "Wills and Settlements," and on May 12th friends will be welcomed at an entertainment consisting of classical and popular music rendered

Miss Flora Macdonald of Newton-ville, secretary of the Boston Women's Club, read the annual report at the meeting at the Copley Plaza on Monday evening, when a large number of the nearly 4000 members attended, a large proportion of whom are residents of this city.

With the annual meeting on Monday afternoon at the Union Church vestry, the Waban Woman's Club completed a year of exceptional interest and activity. The program, consisting of luncheon, business session and play was unusually enjoyable. The treasurer, Mrs. Florence R. Guppy, assisted by Mrs. Sarah B. Souther, had charge of the luncheon. The decorations were yellow and white and the six tables, each seating twelve and having as hostesses officers of the club were waited upon by girls from the Newton Technical High School.

The business meeting was called to order at 3 o'clock by the President, Mrs. Emma G. Angier. Reports for the year were read and the ballot taken for the incoming officers. Those elected were:

President, Mrs. Florence P. Kimball;
vice-president, Mrs. Marla B. Marsh; recording secretary, Mrs. Caroline M.
B. Parker; corresponding secretary,
Mrs. Alice C. Patterson; treasurer,
Mrs. Florence R. Guppy; new director,
Mrs. Minnie K. Burkett; chairman entertainment committee, Mrs. Marjorie
S. White; nominating committee, Mrs.
Susan D. Arnold, Mrs. Louise S. Turner, Mrs. Hannah R. Street; auditor, Mrs. Hannah R. Street. The retiring president, Mrs. Angier, cordially welcomed the incoming president, Mrs.
Florence P. Kimball, who gracefully accepted the office.

Miss Alice W. Osola outlined the farce to be presented, "The Workhouse Ward" by Lady Gregory, quoting the author's own words, "It is better to be quarrelling than to be lonesome." Mrs.
Mary C. Collar as Mrs. Donahoe, Mrs.
Esther S. Davis as Mike McInerney and Mrs. Marla B. Marsh as Michael Mickel, delightfully portrayed the Irish characters, receiving round after round of applause. With the dropping of the curtain, the Club adjourned for the year.

Newton Federation Annual Meeting

Tuesday morning found the Central Congregational chapel filled with women from all parts of the city for the annual meeting of the Newton Federation. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. W. McIntyre, and the annual reports of officers and committee chairmen followed.

Mrs. L. H. Marshall, chairman of the Education committee, reviewed the work of her department. She told of the various activities of the Technical and Vocational schools in which the Federation has lent a helping hand, such as taking orders for canning for the girls in the domestic science department, the placing of girls to sew by the day, securing cuttings, seeds, etc., for the old-fashioned garden which the girls are planning upon the Claf-lin place, the providing of several speakers for talks before the vocational school. The committee has looked into the conditions of the moving picture houses in the city and has planned to carry out two meetings of the parents and teachers of the high schools, with view to the formation of such an association for those schools, but the time does not seem quite ripe for it just at present. Mrs. Marshall urged the women to visit the schools frequently and to keep in touch with what is going on there.

The report of the Social Service committee was given by Mrs. B. E.
Taylor, the chairman, and will be given in full in a later issue.

Mrs. F. E. Anderson of the Social committee announced that the luncheon that day was being provided by the committee itself instead of employment. Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the ballot and the election resulted as follows: President, Mrs. J. W. McIntyre, Social Science
Club; vice-presidents, Mrs. George W.
St. Amant, West Newton Women's Educational Club; Mrs. C. F. Rogers, Jr., Pleasant Hill Study Club; Mrs. C. Beverly Boswick, Christian Era Study Club; recording secretary, Miss Florence E.
Walworth, Newton Centre Woman's Club; corresponding secretary, Mrs.
Edward J. Cox, Newtonville Woman's Guild; treasurer, Miss Lilla A. Rider, Auburndale Review Club; auditor,
Mr. George E. Keyes, Newton Ladies' Home Circle.

The reports of the work of the various clubs was not less full of interest than on former occasions and showed that each has some special work for its own community and a common interest in the welfare of the City. Mrs.
A. C. Farley spoke for the Auburndale Review Club, Mrs. W. H. Brown for the Home Circle, Mrs. Hubert L. Carter for the Mothers' Club, Mrs. Isabella
W. Haddon for the Parliamentary Law Club; Mrs. L. S. Drake for the Social Science Club; Mrs. S. Hardy Mitchell for the Newton Centre Woman's Club; Mrs. L. H. Marshall for the Monday Club; Mrs. F. S. Keith for the Shakespeare Club; Mrs. Rogers for the Ident's report of the Perlian Club;
Mrs. Irving O. Palmer for the Newton-ville Woman's Guild; Mrs. George M.
Angier for the Waban Woman's Club;
Mrs. George W. St. Amant for the West Newton Women's Educational Club, and Miss Ella B. Smith for the Christian Era Study Club, which has come into the Federation during the year.

At the request of the Mothers' Club
Mr. Enoch C. Adams spoke briefly concerning the moral conditions of our Newton high schools, saying that they are good, wholesome and sweet. He stated that certain rumors which have been going around are without foundation, and urged the women to make to bring them directly to headquarters. A protest which has been drawn up by the girls of the schools at a mass meeting was read and the Federation voted to endorse the sentiments expressed in it.

That there is art in serving a meal

(From last week)

The Seniors certainly have been lucky this year in having had for speakers a number of well known men who had something interesting and worth while to say. Last Friday President Stickney introduced Mr. Walter Hapgood, Sporting Editor of the Boston Herald, who spoke on "Athletics." The speaker said that the three games most rapidly growing in popularity are: tennis, golf and soccer football. Golf is believed to be one of the causes of the decrease in attendances at major league baseball games. Mr. Hapgood expressed his opinion that the colleges should allow summer baseball; that is, poor students should not be barred from playing on college teams just because they accepted money for work on nines during the summer. A great deal of dishonesty is the result of the ruling against summer baseball by the colleges. Mr. Hapgood told why he believed in professional coaching, and a question brought out the answer, and proof, that professional baseball is on the level. The boys in the audience could have listened to the speaker the rest of the day, and one girl was heard to remark, "I could listen to him all night."

An important meeting of the Students' Council was called by President Charles Parlin to elect officers. Elliott Stickney was chosen vice-president; Charles Bryson was voted secretary; Stuart Daniels was elected to the office of treasurer. The following were selected as chairmen of the different committees: Miss Mary Clifford of the Stage Committee; head of the Decorating Committee, Wilbur Noyes; Civics Committee, Elliott Stickney; Assembly Committee, Stuart Murray; chief of the Grounds' Committee, Charles Bryson.

of the Social Committee had asserted in her report, was fully demonstrated by that committee in the delicious luncheon which was served. The tables were set with their decorations of roses and a hearty good fellowship prevailed on every hand.

The afternoon session opened with a plea from Miss Mary A. Wilcox of the State Federation Education department, for the education of the immigrant and for interest in the legislative measure, defeated this year, but which will be brought up again next, namely, the establishment of a permanent commission on immigration.

A sextette of girls from the West Newton Music School including, Alice Foley, Myotte Bennett, Margaret Reeves, Mary Clifford, Pauline Kimball and Ruth Paul sang acceptably. The two violin selections by Irene Forte were much enjoyed and the work of the school. Miss Lois Perkins of the Emerson College read several selections in a finished manner that indicates a promising future for her.

The great attraction for the afternoon was the presence of His Excellency, Governor Walsh, who spoke upon "Social Service and the Government."

He spoke of one of the compensations of his office as that of coming out among the people. To the few who have a selfish interest in the government he asserted that there are millions who are doing the splendid things, such as we find being done in Massachusetts. He paid high tribute to the unselfish service which the women and the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, September 1st.

A pleasing feature was the Mother Goose march by the children of the Kindergarten. Miss Langley and Mr. Kendall gave three very beautiful exhibition dances, and the enjoyable affair closed with a collation.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon, Rev. William J. Gardner officiating and the interment was at Newton Cemetery.

A very pleasant social affair on Friday evening was a subscription dancing party given by Mr. Atherton Spaulding in Bray Hall. There was quite a large attendance and the merriments were Mrs. Calvin B. Smith, Mrs. Harry Allen Cooke, Mrs. George H. Faxon, and Mrs. George F. Spaulding.

The ushers included Messrs. Calvin Smith, Hammond Fitzgerald, Curtis Plummer, Gordon Ayer, William Wellman, Kenneth Dunmore, Edgar Burkhardt and Robert Spaulding.

THE QUESTION ANSWERED

The National Suffrage Association claims a membership of about 500,000. There are in the United States 24,500,000 women twenty-one years and over. The fact that after half a century of agitation, only two per cent of the women of the country are sufficiently interested in suffrage to join this association makes the proposal to oblige them to take an interest in it other political questions preposterous.

Question 7. If the majority of women are opposed in Massachusetts, where an active anti-suffrage association has been gathering signatures of women against suffrage ever since 1895, why has it succeeded in 20 years in accumulating the names of only about 3 per cent of the women of the state?

The assumption is inaccurate in two respects, the facts being that (1) the great majority are opposed or indifferent, and (2) the 30,000 women are present active members.

At the Suffrage Hearing at the State House in January 1915, the suffragists stated that their members numbered 55,000. If we assume from their own wording of the question that the suffragists are counting in their membership all those whose names they have accumulated, we arrive at this interesting contrast. The Massachusetts Anti-Suffrage Association, formed in 1895, now has 30,000 members, all women over 21. The Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association, formed in 1870, has accumulated in forty-five years the names of less than twice as many men, women, and minors as there are adult women in the Anti-Suffrage Association.

Questions 8 and 9. Among the millions of citizens in the enfranchised states, why have the opponents of suffrage thus far failed to find a dozen respectable men to assert over their own names and address that it has had any bad results?

From the largest chamber of commerce to the smallest sewing circle, why has no organization of any kind in a suffrage state ever passed a resolution condemning it?

Judge Lindsey, whom the suffragists must certainly consider "respectable," since they hire him to travel all over the country to speak on suffrage platforms, criticizes Colorado women severely for their indifference to public welfare. At a suffrage banquet in Denver in February he said: "When we asked for the employees of a pensionation bill, where were the women voters of Denver? When protests were entered, I looked around for some of our women voters to plead for the poor women and children who would be benefitted by this bill, but there was not a woman present. Where is our adult probation law? We are a suffrage State. Massachusetts is not, but we have an adult probation law, where is our home finding society? We have suffrage, but our dependent children in this state are put in homes for dependent children instead of being given the rights of family ties. We are 20 years behind Massachusetts in spite of suffrage!"

Again he says that "children may be sent to an institution and adopted without their mother having a right to know what becomes of them! Oh, it is worse than the old slavery days!" He says that the cases coming before his court on sex charges have increased 300 per cent in later years. He says that "Colorado has made a science of corrupting its public men."

Now what is the result of this frankness? Colorado people are maintaining that he is an enemy of their state, a despoiler of its "fair name," and in order to get him out of public life are trying to do away with his children's Court! The lower house of legislature has already passed a bill abolishing this court! There are many respectable men in Colorado who agree with Judge Lindsey on these points, but there is naturally small inducement to bear testimony publicly, when the public is so bitter against one who discloses evils in the state. The western states have an intense state loyalty (in which they differ from Massachusetts suffragists who love to tell the truth) and are loath to "catch up" with Utah and Wyoming!

which makes them resent criticisms. These states are all sparsely settled, even California having only 15 inhabitants to the square mile, as against 418 in Massachusetts, and are all eager to attract population. In order to "boom" their states, they consequently dwell upon their points, and consider it almost a crime to admit defects. This may perhaps explain why chambers of commerce and sewing circles are not advertising the fact, which is constantly admitted by individuals privately, that woman suffrage is a failure. The Colorado Senate has recently solemnly declared that woman suffrage "to a considerable degree has retarded a higher respect for the supremacy of the law." This statement, made within a few months of the strike horrors, the reign of anarchy and the abdication of state sovereignty for months to Federal troops, is utterly ludicrous, and gives a perfect example of the value of such legislative endorsements—but it is, rather than Judge Lindsey's frankness, is evidently what Colorado people want.

Question 10. Unless most people like it after they have experience of it, why do opponents warn us that once granted it can never be recalled?

Opponents say not that it is impossible to recall, but that it is exceedingly difficult to recall. See answers to Nos. 2, 8 and 9.

This question displays a singular lack of understanding of a political situation. The woman who objects to woman suffrage are unwilling to undertake a political campaign to get rid of an obligation which they can easily shirk. If the question were submitted, nearly all the women who vote would vote to retain woman suffrage; but those who do not believe in it would (as usual) stay at home. Thus, even if as many as 65 men out of 100 (an extraordinary majority, rarely if ever found in elections) were against woman suffrage, they could probably not repeat it if 35 per cent of the women voted. That is, one-third of the men in favor, plus one-third of the women in favor, would offset two-thirds of the men voting and two-thirds of the women staying at home.

Judge Snell of Tacoma says: "I favored woman suffrage in Washington and voted for it. But, in common with thousands of others who looked at the question as an abstract proposition, I am so greatly disappointed at the way it has worked out that I would today welcome an opportunity to vote for its withdrawal; and I believe if it were resubmitted to the people of Washington, and every man and woman of voting age were compelled to vote upon it, woman suffrage would be defeated by an overwhelming majority."

It is by no means improbable that at some future time when a woman suffrage state goes through a really momentous crisis, such as complete state bankruptcy or civil war, the weaknesses of the system will become glaringly apparent. Then so great a majority of men will vote to repeal it, that the voting women will be overborne.

The lesson for male suffrage states to learn from this situation is that the time to oppose woman suffrage is beforehand not afterwards. And that this lesson is being rapidly learned is shown by the fact that since 1912 woman suffrage has made no gains but Nevada and Montana, which together have a population less than that of Pittsburgh. While since last November woman suffrage has met defeat in our National Congress and in seven states—Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Delaware, Indiana, Michigan, North Carolina, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri, Ohio, Nebraska and Connecticut.

The Massachusetts Forestry Association, 4 Joy street, Boston, is doing most efficient work for the forest and shade tree interests of this state, and the members of the Association have formed a Newton Branch. Membership in the Massachusetts Forestry Association means membership in the local Branch and everyone interested in the welfare of our trees is invited to join and help in this good work. The annual dues are $2.00 and a percentage of the dues goes to the work of the local Branch.

N. T. H. S.

Miss MacDonald and Miss Shields, Seniors in the Salem Normal School, are assisting in the Commercial Department.

Edward Hollingsworth and Ralph Connors, both members of the Senior class, have secured positions in the First National Bank in Boston.

Charles E. G. Capon, acting manager of the school paper, "The Dynamo," left for Washington on Wednesday. Capon is going as a delegate from the Newtonville Young People's League of the Church of the New Jerusalem.

A very enthusiastic crowd collected in Temple Hall, Newtonville, last Friday night for the Senior dance. The music furnished by the Colonial orchestra from Waltham was "great." Time and time again the loud applause demanded encores, and the singing orchestra (for the players sang the choruses of the popular pieces) kept them to the again.

The seventy couples made a very pretty sight in the grand march which led the affair. President Stickney lead with Miss Ruth Allen, and behind came Henry Wilson, who acted as floor marshal, with Miss Mildred Wennerlund as his partner. The matrons, Mrs. Maxim, Miss Doonan, and Miss Wesley, were escorted in by Earle Conn and Wilson as members of the Dance Committee. "I'm on my way to Dublin Bay," "I'm glad my wife is in Europe," "Sweetheart Mine," and "I want to go to Tokio" were the hits of the evening. The dancers seemed to be unable to get enough of these lively selections. The dance orders were attractive and covered twenty dances and four extras. Refreshments were served during the intermission, and the cars leaving Newtonville Square around twelve o'clock were announced. All agreed that the dance of the class of 1915 was in every way a great success.

President Stickney has appointed the following to constitute the committee to have charge of the class party: Edwin McGill, William Quinn, Roger McNear, Miss Clifford, and Miss Kimball.

The assembly Wednesday morning was attended by the Sophomore and Junior classes. The entertainment was given by the Tech. College section of Junior class. Underhill, in charge, and spoke a word of introduction to the effect that a version of "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow" was to be presented with all the humor eliminated. This of course paved the way for an extremely amusing, what shall we call it, comedy in three parts. S. Juthe as the schoolmaster was very good. The other participants were Stuart Daniels, William Plummer, H. Leonard, A. Genaske, and Harold Howe.

The Senior Salesmanship class is having practice in dictation. Girls from the Clerical course come in and get letters from these "greenhorns." The boys are doing much better now than when they started for most of them can dictate a fairly good letter.

The Friday Senior Assembly was made a class meeting, and it was surprising how much business there was to be done. Grace Bowen read a well expressed report of the last meeting. Robert Fairbanks was asked to take the minutes for the day. Ralph Connors reported that about $100 had been cleared from the Senior play. Hagar, the editor of the "Dynamo," spoke at length on the last issue which is to belong to the class of 1915. The President was given the power to appoint a nominating committee to bring in names at the next meeting for the Senior Dynamo committee, and one to bring in names for the Gift Committee.

After much urging, Davis sat at the piano and again showed his musical ability, thus ending the period.

CRITICIZE PUBLIC MARKET PLAN

Newton Market Men Deny Statements Made at Recent Hearing

Some of the statements made at the hearing at City Hall, Monday evening, the matter of Public Markets seem to be unusual that the Graphic has interviewed several of the marketmen in this city.

Mr. A. J. Ford, manager of Knight's Market at Nonantum square, criticized suggestion of carload lots of produce like tomatoes, asparagus, celery, strawberries by saying that one carload of any one of these articles would be in one day more than all the Newton markets could dispose of in a week, and pertinently asked it would be done with the surplus, it to be sold at the sacrifice or let it spoil. Mr. Ford also said while it is well enough to say lettuce may be kept in cold storage for some time, in his opinion it would not be improved by the process, would agree that some hardy lettuce, grown at the South, may be kept under certain conditions for some weeks, but it deteriorates each day and is not opened up will stand but little longer. Mr. Ford does not believe either Waltham or Boston has any advantage over Newton stores, and significantly adds, "neither of these cities has public markets." He suggests that an investigation was made of the successful markets of Lynn, Somerville and other places in Greater Boston. It would be found that these men do not purchase their supplies from farmers who gather by the hundreds in the Boston market, nor from central point receiving goods in carload lots. You will find these men bringing their goods as we in Newton do, from the commission men wholesale produce houses, who experts in handling the goods, and all there is to be known about them, and most important, able to serve us with the peculiar goods we require. That lettuce goes thru from 3 to 8 different hands before reaching the consumer is emphatically denied by Mr. Ford, who said that probably 75 per cent of the produce goes from the far to the commission man and then the local dealer, 20 per cent goes to the car load lot man and 5 per cent comes into the local market dealer.

Mr. Ford is not a seeker of trade on basis of "trade at home," for that intimates that Newton can compete with Waltham or Boston, believes in trading where one can get the best. His business requires close application that he is not position to judge comparative as between Newton stores and with as handling the same quality in on or Waltham, but he is satisfied that when everything is considered, you cannot expect every convenience, personal calls for orders, immediate delivery, long credit and not pay for them. He refuses to run his business in such a way as to handicap himself with competitors, whether in Boston, Waltham or Newton, and denies that he is not in a position to compete with any market in Greater Boston, for the same quality of goods. He would not fear the competition of a market run by the city of Newton, if such a market was run on a paying basis and not at the expense of the taxpayers. He would be satisfied with the profit from an expert handling of goods as against any municipal effort that would not be run on as low a per cent cost of doing business as he is doing right here and now. Mr. Ford is convinced that in the purchase of goods, the cost is less with his own methods of buying than any municipal experiment in carload lots or purchase from local producers. He suggests that if Newton residents will give the local store a square deal, place your orders together so they may make prompt deliveries, use the telephone which he believes is the cheapest method of ordering, other than a personal visit to the market, pay your bills promptly and fully and encourage those markets with your patronage which help you to reduce the high cost of living, and give you fair value for what you expend. Mr. Ford closed the interview with the suggestion to other market men to advertise, for in his opinion, it paid.

DEATH OF MR. SHAW

General Manager of B. & W. Street Railway Passes Away in Brookline

Mr. Edward Payson Shaw, Jr., general manager of the Boston & Worcester Street Railway Company, and prominent in street railway circles in this state, died last Saturday at the Corey Hill Hospital, Brookline, from blood poisoning brought on by an operation some four weeks previous.

Mr. Shaw, who has made his residence on Lincoln street, Newton Highlands for the past eleven years, was born in Newburyport, Mass., June 12, 1869, and was educated in the public schools there. Upon graduating from the Newburyport schools he attended a commercial college. After leaving college he first fitted himself for the electric railway business by taking a practical course at the Thompson, Houston Electric Company, now the General Electric Company.

His railway career began by acting in the capacity of superintendent of the Plum Island street railway at Newburyport, in 1881. Leaving the Plum Island road he went to the Norwich street railway as manager, and later he became manager and director of the New London street railway. By his association with the two roads he was primarily responsible for the construction and building of the electric road which today connects New London with Norwich.

He also was manager for several years of the Valley street railway of Pawcatuck. For some years he represented Tucker Anthony & Co., in the management of their street railways.

INTERESTING MEETINGS AT CITY HALL

Public Market Favored and Jitneys Opposed Before the City Government

City Hall was crowded to the doors Monday evening at the meeting of the aldermen by three different groups of citizens, one interested in a hearing requested by the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs on the establishment of a Bureau of Markets in this city, another group composed largely of street railway employees were attracted by a hearing of the "jitney bus" proposition and there were also a large number of city laborers, who waited for the board to allow them a half holiday during the summer months.

President Blanchard was in the chair and Aldermen Cobb and Harriman were the only members absent.

The first hearing was on petition of Richard I. Dwyer to keep gasoline at 17 Park street, and Mrs. Fiske, owner of adjoining property, Marcus G. Haley, another owner, Dr. C. A. Davenport, who resided next door, and Dr. T. O. Loveland another abuttor, entered strong objections to granting the petition on the ground of noise and smoke and the general nuisance existing at this garage.

Mr. Horace W. Hall was the first speaker in favor of a Bureau of Markets and told how the movement had begun from a meeting in Newton Centre, from which action had been taken by the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs. Mr. Hall said that the necessity for reducing the high cost of living should cause an investigation of the present system. Newton market prices were far above Boston prices and many persons purchase their supplies in Boston or at Waltham and the advent of the chain-of-stores-system had found many patrons. Mr. Hall did not believe that Newton market men were in any position to compete either with Boston or Waltham. The state has recently passed a law authorizing cities to establish public markets and requiring cities which do not establish markets to designate certain places where farmers could send their teams for the purpose of selling their products. Mr. Hall said that 57 cities in the country had public markets and proved their usefulness. Produce now passes thru from 3 to 8 different hands in reaching the consumer, each with its profit, to say nothing of the loss in handling and transportation. He thought Newton was splendidly situated to allow its marketmen to buy farm produce direct in carload lots. He instanced a friend coming here from Pittsburg and complaining that prices were double what they were in the former city and said that people cannot come here to live at the present prices of food. Mr. Hall said that there were delegates present from each of the 13 clubs comprising the Newton Federation and represented 12,000 persons. He admitted that retail markets might not be suitable for Newton but believed the matter ought to be investigated and some plan devised for the city.

Hon. Wilfred Wheeler, secretary of the state board of Agriculture said that the farmer's problem was largely one of marketing and there should be some bureau to inform the farmers of available markets, as there were many small farmers who cannot afford to carry a small amount of produce to Boston. If some place was open for them they would be glad to have a stand there to sell their goods. Boston handles from 40,000 to 50,000 bushels of produce daily, part of which passes directly thru Newton on its way to Boston and is then brought back here for local use. The goods would be fresher and considerable transportation saved if Newton had a market where the stuff could be sold. The Board of Agriculture has appointed a committee to assist the various communities in acting under Chapter 119 of the present year.

Various ladies then arose and said that they represented this or that club of women, but it was hard to hear just what was said in this connection.

Mr. Henry H. Kendall of Newton Centre said that any movement to bring the producer and consumer together was well worth while. Mr. Hittinger of Belmont, one of the largest market gardeners in this vicinity said that he would be glad to send produce to Newton as it was just as easy to do so as to go to Boston. He believed there should be a market and cold storage plant where stuff could be kept in good condition and said that contrary to general belief, lettuce could be kept a week or a month in such storage.

Hon. Samuel L. Powers appeared for Mr. A. G. Baker who asked a permit to operate a line of busses between Newton and Newton Centre. Mr. Powers said that Mr. Baker proposed to operate two busses, capable of carrying 18 persons each, running thru Centre street from Nonantum square to the railroad station at Newton Centre.

The suggestion for a Public Market, or a bureau of markets, which has been made by the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, can hardly be seriously considered in this city, with its many villages, each having its own needs and business to be met. One central market is clearly out of the question, and it is extremely doubtful if a Bureau of Markets would be justified. The provisions of the law requiring the city to designate certain streets where farmers may stand and sell their produce are also of doubtful value to a city like ours. It would be a gamble for the farmer in the first place, and would not be convenient for the greater portion of our residents.

The horrors of the war in Europe and the tragedy of the sinking of the Lusitania are brooding close at hand, by the deaths of Mr. Carlton T. Brodrick of Newton Highlands and of Mr.
Arthur H. Adams, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Adams of Newton. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to our friends and neighbors in this unexpected and unnecessary affliction which has come to them.

In view of the recent agitation over the morals of the pupils of our high schools, it has been suggested that parents should pay more attention to automobile rides, particularly during the evening, without chaperones, or the growing prevalence of week end house parties without sufficient chaperonage.
Good morals must begin at home.

The editor of the GRAPHIC will be a candidate at the state primary in September for the Republican nomination for representative in place of Mr. Bothfield who is to retire at the close of the present Legislature.

Neutrality may sometime cease to be a virtue.

PAGEANT OF HOME MISSIONS

A social affair which was both interesting and novel, was the Pageant of Home Missions, which was given Wednesday afternoon in Eliot Chapel under the auspices of the Home Missionary Department of the Woman's Association.

United States Flags were attractively arranged as decoration, and the various nations were represented by young ladies in native costume.

Mrs. Everett E. Kent appeared as "Columbia"; Mrs. Young as "The Spirit of Pilgrim"; Miss Ethel Gilman,
"The Spirit of America"; Miss Marguerite Collins, as "Italy"; Miss Hope Parker, "Norway"; Miss Muriel Mc-Creedy, "Bulgaria"; Miss Beth Fuller, "Greece"; Miss Gladys Burdick, "Assyria"; Miss Katherine Patton, "Hungary"; Miss Louise Pinkham, "Poland"; Miss Katherine Barton, "A Russian Jew"; Miss Florence Wallace, "America"; Miss Katherine Gause,
"Bohemia"; Miss Louise Bacon, "Holland". An attractive feature of the pageant was the singing of National airs by an "Angel Chorus," lead by Miss Eleanor Eddy; the singers included Mrs. H. Grant Person, Mrs.
Franklin W. Gause, Mrs. Cornelius Patton, Miss Mary Childs, Mrs. Gibbons, Miss Millicent Perkins, Miss Leah Bailey and Miss Pauline Dunne.

Miss Grace Manning presided at the piano and the different foreign groups were arranged under the direction of Mrs. H. H. Powers, and Miss Grace Weston.

There was a very large attendance,
the ladies of the other Newton churches being present as invited guests, and at the close of the meeting which followed refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

MR. JARVIS A CANDIDATE

May 12, 1915.
To the Editor Newton Graphic:

Dear Sir:
In view of the fact that Hon. Henry E. Bothfield has declared that he will not be a candidate for re-election to the Legislature this fall, many friends have urged that I at this time declare my position, especially in view of the fact that last year, in the interests of my party, I withdrew from the field as soon as Mr. Bothfield announced his candidacy.

I had not intended to enter the field at this early date but in view of the above I now declare that I shall be a candidate to succeed Mr. Bothfield this fall.

I stand on my record of three terms as Alderman. During that time I have never absented myself either from meetings of the Board of the Commissioners on which I have served, and, if elected, I shall serve my constituents with the same faithfulness at the State House.

Very truly yours,
HENRY W. JARVIS.

GOVERNOR'S VETO SUSTAINED

The veto of the liquor transportation bill was sustained in the House this morning with 83 in favor of passing the bill over the veto and 103 opposed.

N. H. S. BASE BALL

Saturday afternoon at Claffin Field, Newtonville Newton High played its best game of the year and defeated Boston College High by the score of 4 to 3. It was the latter's first defeat of the season.

Newton scored in but two innings
the first and ninth and the two runs in the last inning when Newton was one behind were made on two hits, an error and Stickney being hit. Gill for the Boston boys pitched a fine game having a little more on the ball than Comick.

After Newton made two runs in the first, the teams settled down. Boston College earned a run in the third and went into the lead in the sixth making two runs on timely hitting by Capt. Spillane and Bob Gill.

Harris opened the ninth and was thrown out at first. Newell was safe on Burke's error. Stickney was hit by a pitched ball. Comick hit safely, sending Newell in and Vachon across with a fine hit to center field which sent Stickney across the plate with the winning run.

In a close but loosely played game
Monday, Newton High nosed out Somerville in the 10th inning and won a long-vindicated contest, 7 to 6. Newton had the bases full in the 10th inning with two down when Vachon came across with a pretty hit and the winning run was scored.

The game at Cambridge Wednesday between Newton and Rindge Technical resulted in a victory for the latter school the score being 7 to 4.

Many spectators catches and brilliant fielding made the game one of unusual interest to the spectators.

Cedarstrand twirled for Rindge and after the third inning Newton could do little with his delivery. Six hits were made off him, two of them home runs and another triple. Litchfield started in the box for Newton, but his stay was only short and Kellar, who relieved him, did well excepting in the seventh when Rindge bunched hits and sent three runs across the plate.

White, for Rindge, played one of the best games of his career. Out of five times at bat he made two triples and two singles. McLaughlin, Mulvey and Shea were the other Rindge lads who hit well. Harris, Turner and Capt.
King did good stickwork for Newton.
Rindge scored in the first. Boyle walked and White tripled, scoring him.
Cedarstrand drew a base on balls.
White went home on McLaughlin's single and Cedarstrand tallied a run on Mulvey's hit.

In the second Harris of Newton triple and Turner laced one of Cedar-strand's shoots for a home run. Newton jumped into the lead by making two runs in the third. Dalton reached first on an error and scored on King's home run.

LAMOND-REID

The wedding of Miss Charlotte Elizabeth Reid of Ossining, N. Y. and Mr.
Philip Tower Lamond of Auburndale, took place Monday evening at the bride's home in Ossining-on-the-Hudson.

The interior of the house was beautifully decorated for the occasion in a scheme of pink, white and green. The ceremony was performed at half after seven o'clock by Rev. Mr. McWilliams, pastor of the Ossining Congregational Church, assisted by Rev. Mr. Carey of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

The bridal party stood under a large white floral bell, hung in an alcove in the drawing room which was effectively decorated with laurel ferns and white roses, and lighted with small electric globes, and as the party entered Wagner's Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin was played by an orchestra.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Miss Anne B. Holbrook, wore an exquisite wedding gown, of ivory white satin, court train and duchesse lace; her veil was of tulle with point lace and fastened with a spray of orange blossoms, and she carried a full shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

She was attended by Miss Anna Clapp of Poughkeepsie, as maid of honor, who was gown in pale pink tulle and carried pink sweet peas.
The bridesmaids, Miss Carrie H. Lamond of Auburndale, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Carol Holbrook of Vassar College, were attractively attired in pink net over pink tulle and carried pink sweet peas.

The flower girl, Miss Helen Holbrook, a little maiden of five years, was dressed in white lace and carried a basket of pink sweet peas.

Mr. Lester Walling of the Harvard Law School, was the best man, and the ushers were Mr. William O'Donnell and Mr. Richard Jacobs of Auburndale.

Following the ceremony a large reception was held and Mr. and Mrs.
Lamond were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. John D. Lamond, the bridegroom's parents, the latter was gown in black net over white satin with corsage bouquet of white sweet peas, and Miss Holbrook, who wore a gown of white lace and carried a bou-quet of white sweet peas.

The orchestra played during the reception and refreshments were served at small tables in the dining room, which were decorated in the wedding color scheme. The bridal table was all in white and adorned with white roses.

There were about 125 guests in attendance from Boston, Auburndale,
New York, Poughkeepsie, Waltham and Ossining. On their return from a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Lamond will reside at 1591 Washington street, Auburndale.

ANNUAL MEETING AND LECTURE NEWTONVILLE IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

The printed notices for this meeting have already been sent out, and emphasize the attractive features of the lecture to be given by Rev. Wallace Nutting the maker of the well known "Nutting Photographs."

Probably no one in New England has done more to raise photography to the level of the higher arts than Mr. Nutting. Aiming to make each picture a distinct composition—such a composition as a painter might select, he has added figures, costumes, and color, and reached a result—particularly in his interiors,—which approximates closely to the allied art of painting. It is these interiors that the lecturer will illustrate and speak of length, but there will be many views selected from the best of his miscellaneous subjects.

As announced, the lecture will be at 8 o'clock Monday evening next, immediately following the annual meeting exercises. It will be in Denison Hall and guest tickets can be obtained of members.

CORT THEATRE—There is a general impression that plays that are produced at this time of the year are either of little value, or, what is termed "try-outs" for the coming season, but in the present instance the merriest farce that has been seen in Boston for many a day is now at the Cort Theatre, entitled "The Last Laugh" with that sterling farceur Edward Ahearn in the star part. The authors are Paul Dickey and Charles W. Goddard whose names, through the excellence of their former plays that have been seen in Boston to excellent advantage namely "The Misleading Lady" and "The Ghost Breaker," command attention, have evolved from Mrs. Shelley's story of "Dr. Frankenstein" an unusual stage creation that bids fair to become even more popular than their previous efforts. The theme of "The Last Laugh" is ingenious in construction, mystifying in ludicrous deception, and complication that compels hearty laughter.

DRAMATICS

"The Ghost in the House" a problem farce written by Roger Wheeler of Newtonville was presented by a competent cast, last evening in the Universalist parish house.

The large audience was enthusiastic in showing its appreciation of the performance and the cast of characters included F. W. Sprague, 2nd, as "Spigot," the butler; Miss Marion Drew Basset as "Annie," the maid; Mr. Roger Wheeler in the role of "Henry Witherspoon," and Miss Elizabeth Hartshorne as "Rebecca Witherspoon," his wife; Mr. Sheldon E. Root, as "Harry Davis"; Miss Marguerite K. Jackson as "Marion Davis," his sister; Miss Abbie A. Cady, as "Marjorie Witherspoon," and Gordon W. Sholar as "Frank Witherspoon." C. Richard Paine made a "hit" in the role of a policeman, "Mike Clancy," and a member of the cast did well and displayed considerable dramatic ability.

"Dream Faces" a very pleasant sketch was given by Frank M. Grant, Elizabeth Hartshorne, Marie C. Bartlett, F. W. Sprague, 2nd, and Sheldon E. Root.

At the close of the performances dancing was enjoyed.

Mrs. F. J. Fessenden, Regent, presided.

After the Roll Call by the Registrar Mrs. Henry V. Jones, recording secretary, read her reports of the April meeting and the annual, as well as that of the corresponding secretary, in her absence. Mrs. F. W. Pray, registrar, reported a full number of members, 110 and a waiting list.

Motion was made and carried that these reports be accepted. Delegates and Alternates were chosen to attend the State Convention in Boston. Mrs. Hartley W. Thayer was elected Recording Secretary. Mrs. Arthur C. Dunmore was elected Historian. Mrs. Benjamin W. Hackett gave great pleasure by her recitation of a poem dedicated to the D. A. R.

Miss Wagner, by her playing of the piano, added much to the pleasure of the occasion.

A verse of the Star Spangled Banner and one of America brought the exercises of the afternoon to a close and a social hour followed when the hostesses, Mrs. William H. Gould, Mrs. Warren Gregory, Mrs. Benjamin W. Hackett and Mrs. Edward K. Hall served refreshments.

ALLSTON BARACCA'S QUIT FIELD

Between the Y. M. C. A. and the Baracca Club of Allston

What promised to be a good fast ball game was marred by the continual disputing of the Allston players. Cady started in the box for Newton and went along nicely for four innings but in the fifth blew up, Allston getting four runs, two doubles and a single coupled with some poor throwing to bases by Dupree.

Hitcher succeeded Cady in the 6th and was touched up for three hits in the 7th inning, which netted two runs.

The 7th inning was a disastrous one for Allston when Sawyer passed three men and Hitcher hit for a hard single. Then L. Kerr, who had connected for a double his first time at bat, produced the first home run of the season by putting the ball over the tennis court fence scoring three runs and evening up the score.

In the 8th inning Allston was shut out in order. Read opened up Newton's half by flying out. Bills hit for a single and stole second and 3rd. On his steal to third Allston protested and left the field.

Boston Y. M. C. A. plays here next Saturday.

THREE-ALARM FIRE

Three alarms, two of them unnecessary, were sounded early Tuesday morning for a fire in a shed adjoining a barn owned by Francis J. Mague on Mague avenue, West Newton. The shed valued at about $300, was destroyed. Employees took out 28 horses from the stable.

About midnight one of the fire companies was called on a still alarm to put out a fire in a haystack about 100 feet from the shed. At 12.25 A. M., just after the company returned to quarters, an alarm was rung from box 32. This was followed a few minutes later by an alarm from box 314 and then by an alarm from box 341. These boxes are in the same neighborhood and were rung in by excited persons who feared the fire would spread.

The three alarms called out all the apparatus in the city and created much excitement.

PROTECTION AGAINST TYPHOID FEVER

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic:

Sir:—

Now that the vacation season is approaching it seems advisable to draw attention to the risk of catching typhoid fever, to which vacationists are exposed.

That this is no imaginary danger is shown by the fact that the term "vacation typhoid" referring to those cases which develop among vacationists shortly after they return home, is familiar to all health officers.

Typhoid fever is a preventable disease and the risk of developing it can be greatly diminished by taking certain precautions. It is not caused by stagnant water, miasm, or any similar agent but simply and solely by taking into the mouth something that has been infected by the excreta of a person who has been ill with typhoid.

This usually is some article of food or drink, such as salad, uncooked shell fish, water or milk. This fact is well expressed by another familiar phrase, "feces, fingers and food."

The best protection against typhoid fever is inoculation. This consists in having injected under the skin, preferably of the arm, a solution containing a known number of killed typhoid bacilli. Three injections are required at ten day intervals, the whole process taking about three weeks. There is practically no reaction and the protection afforded, while not absolute, is effective in nearly all cases.

This protective injection is furnished by the State Department of Health to local Boards of Health which in turn furnish it to physicians free of charge.

The Newton Board of Health is prepared to furnish it upon request and would urge upon all citizens the advisability of consulting their family physicians in regard to taking the protection afforded by this very simple procedure.

Newton has a low typhoid rate as far as home cases are concerned and if she can reduce her vacation typhoid she would stand as an example to other cities of what can be done to make a community healthy.

She has had a "clean-up week" for physical rubbish and dirt; will not every citizen aid her to have a "clean-up year" for preventable disease by protecting himself and family against typhoid fever?

Chairman.

N. H. S.

There was an interesting debate Wednesday morning in the assembly hall between the boys of the N. H. D. T., Charles C. Noble, Frederic W. Corson and Dalton E. Francis and the girls of the Portia Club, Misses Evangeline Huntley, Miriam Keeler and Eleanor Mason, on the subject, that the United States ought to exercise a censorship over the press.

The girls upheld the affirmative and were declared the winners by the judges, Mr. Joseph C. Hagar, Mr. Samuel Thurber and Mr. Horace Kidger.

POLICE NOTES

A two months' sentence to the House of Correction was imposed on Danny Densde of 1 Hawthorn street, Nonantum, on the charge of assault and battery upon John J. O'Neil, in the Police Court Wednesday morning, by Judge J. C. Kennedy. It was alleged that Densde, during an argument that morning in the Saxony Mill with O'Neil, struck him on the head with a steel spoon, inflicting a severe gash on the head.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The most interesting event this week for Newton residents was the veto by Governor Walsh of the liquor transportation bill, which many of our citizens have been pushing. The Senate sent the bill to the Governor after Attorney General Atwill had rendered an opinion that its provision did not prohibit the transportation thru a No license community of liquors intended for another municipality. Mr. Atwill frankly stated, however, that the bill was ambiguous in this line and Governor Walsh has based his veto on this technicality. His action is a matter of deep regret, especially in this city, where the law had been badly needed ever since the aldermen adopted their present policy of granting but one express license. It is quite doubtful if the necessary two thirds vote can be obtained to pass the bill over the veto, altho every step should be taken to do so.

Senator Ellis is having more or less trouble with his inholders bill which is aimed at the social evil and not a straightforward business. It is somewhat difficult to draft a law which will prevent one without interfering with some phase of the other.

The bill to establish a censorship over the moving picture, or theatrical business, by creating a commission consisting of the Mayor of Boston, the Police Commissioner and the Chief Justice of the Municipal court was passed by the House, after a valiant attempt was made to amend the bill so as to provide that a vote of two of these commissioners would be sufficient to amend the bill.

The amendment was lost, all three of our Representatives voting for it, and the bill was then passed, with the hope on the part of many that the Senate would amend the bill in the direction outlined.

The bill to authorize a new bridge over the Charles River near Norumbega Park has had quite an interesting experience. The original bill placing the entire expense on the Commonwealth, was sent to Mr. Bothfield's committee, where City Solicitor Bishop asked for a substitute bill based on the plan under which the Boylston street bridge was paid for at the Upper Falls, 64 per cent on the Metropolitan district, 16 per cent on the city, 8 per cent on Wellesley, and the balance on the street railway company and the county. In Mr. Bothfield's absence, the committee voted to report the original bill and when they did so, it went to Ways and Means. Mr. Bothfield learned of this action and told the latter committee that the substitute bill should be reported, but in some way the substitute was ignored and the committee reported against the first bill. Mr. Bothfield had this report re-committed and the committee has now reported a bill by which the district is to pay 50 per cent of the cost, Newton 25 per cent, Weston 10 per cent and the county 15 per cent. This apportionment would probably cost the city some $12,000.

THE GENEROUS PUBLISHER

When a newspaper gives you a lot of free advertising in order to boom some concert or entertainment in which you are interested, keep track of the lines that are printed week by week and multiply that number by the regular advertising rates of the paper, says the Northfield (Minn.) News. Compare the results with the actual money value of any favor that you get from any other business concern. Then take into consideration the fact that advertising and circulation are the only two things that a newspaper has to sell. Now in these days of higher prices, how much do you think it ought to give away?

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

With this issue the Club Editor completes ten years of setting forth the doings of the Women's Clubs of Newton. There has been a steady, healthy growth of club activities in that time and there is every promise for a bright and useful future. To be of service to the clubs has been the aim of the COLUMN and to make it more and more so is the constant desire of its Editor. Grateful recognition is hereby given to all the clubs for their unvarying courtesy, which has made the relations between the Club Editor and the clubs a pleasure at all times.

The official call for the annual meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation has gone to the club presidents this week. This meeting, as has been previously announced, will be held at Marion, on June 24 and 25, Hotel Sippican being the headquarters. In addition to the usual business it is announced that a resolution for Suffrage may be presented. The General Federation endorsed Equal Suffrage at its biennial session at Chicago in 1914, and since that time twenty-six State federations have followed suit. With the matter coming before the male voters in this State next November it is fitting that the Federation should place itself on record at this time.

Local Announcements

The Executive Board of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs will hold its regular quarterly meeting on Monday, May 17 at 10.15 A. M. in the New Church parlors.

Local Happenings

On Wednesday the members of the Pierian Club met at Petter Inn for luncheon, which was much enjoyed and following this was held the annual meeting of the Club. The business included the annual reports of officers and committees and the election, which resulted in the re-election of the same ones. They are as follows: President, Mrs. J. W. C. Easterbrook; vice-president, Mrs. Charles Mills; secretary, Mrs. J. K. Hemphill; treasurer, Mrs. L. P. Everett; delegate to Newton Federation, Mrs. C. F. Rogers, Jr.; members of standing Federation committees, social, Mrs. W. C. Willard, education, Mrs. C. R. Brown, nominating, Mrs. J. K. Hemphill, social service, Mrs. H. E. Locke.

Report of the Social Service Committee of Newton Federation for 1914-1915.

The greater part of the work of the Social Service committee for the season of 1914-1915 has been that of culmination rather than of any considerable new effort.

It is difficult to report our Social Service committee work in detail, because so much of it is from day to day effort, constant thought of ways and means, and quiet watchfulness for opportunity. Requests and suggestions, all manner of information sought by telephone coming to only one of our committee, would fill a most interesting report, but far too long for the time at our disposal.

The leaders of Providence have been truly wonderful in making it possible to bring needs to the needy and at least suggestive help to inquiries, all proving the certain need of a co-operative bureau for all Newton. Both School department, Police department, and Board of Health have been prompt in coming to our assistance.

Through connection with other organizations it has been possible to bring to our Social Service committee various opportunities for helpfulness, which have been met most generously, especially in connection with our Vocational high school. During the cold weather considerable warm clothing was sent there, at request, and substantial aid rendered.

At our autumn meeting in West Newton, girls of the Vocational school were given an opportunity to sell candy, and to take orders for and sell canned fruit and vegetables. Proceeds of the candy sale were given toward purchase of Camp Fire Uniforms and that from sale of fruit and vegetables toward beautifying the grounds about the school.

Early in 1915 report came to the chairman of the danger to life of girls and boys arriving at and leaving the high schools on account of automobiles between the cars and the sidewalks, at and near the corner of Elm road. The boys and girls are many of them very young and all talking and laughing, not always hearing horns or autos. There have been accidents and several hair-breadth escapes. Frequently the chauffeurs did not even slow up, but rushed through the crowd. After a conference with the Chief of Police, arrangement was made to have an officer at hand to stop approaching autos, while pupils are taking or leaving cars.

Early in the autumn it became evident that, on account of the resignation of Mrs. Martin, who had been many years secretary of the Newton Associated Charities, time had come for co-operation with the group of people who had supported that work. You will remember that for several years the committee has worked toward the establishment of a central office or co-operative bureau of Newton activities.

A conference was called by officers and directors of the Associated Charities with members of the Federation. Mrs. McIntyre, the chairman of the Education committee and of the Social Service committee were present. After two conferences at the Associated Charities rooms, an executive group was formed, including representatives of the Associated Charities, from the Federation and other organizations. Officers and directors to represent as nearly as possible all parts of Newton were nominated and a tentative constitution and by-laws were drawn up. In February a mass meeting was held at the Newton Club to which all Newton citizens were invited. An unexpectedly large audience crowded the hall, all ready and enthusiastic for the proposed combination, and from this meeting the Newton Ladies' Home was born. Since then frequent meetings have been held and active measures taken to secure a working Secretary. The Federation has held in its treasury a sum of money which was raised in 1913 for the bureau. By vote of the Executive Board $500 has already been turned over to the Newton Ladies' Home, and a sum not to exceed $200 will be given each year for the next two years.

In a most gracious manner the Associated Charities group have agreed to drop their old name, especially the word charity. On May 5th, the first annual meeting of the Bureau will be held, the office opened for work very soon and from now on we must all work together, giving freely of time and thought toward its best interests. Thus we see materialized the dream which has taxed our patience so long.

For many years we have heard at each annual meeting report of the ups and downs of our anti-tuberculosis work, and Camp at the Newton Hospital. There also this year, 1915, brings us to a climax. During the last several years there has always been in mind the possibility of a city hospital for tuberculosis patients, and the use of our entire outfit in that connection. At intervals letters have been written to the State Committee, to the Mayor of Newton, and to other powers that were, urging the necessity of other conditions than those existing. Newton patients have been placed in the Waltham Hospital. There has been a considerable increase in the number of tuberculosis patients during the last winter. Request came for a tent from the Newton Board of Health. As the tents which we bought and used several years ago were almost all much worn, a new tent was bought and placed at the disposal of the Board of Health. It served for one patient in Newton Centre until the end of the year, and is now used in Auburn-dale, and the young man who is occupying it is reported much improved since he had the use of the tent.

Recently demand has come from the State that Newton should provide a hospital for its tuberculosis patients, Newton being published as one of nine delinquent cities, and July first set as the limit time, with heavy penalty if no provision is made before that time. You will remember that there has been continued effort for the part of your Social Service committee for years, to this very end.

Almost immediately upon publication of the State injunction we received request from Dr. Curtis, chairman of Newton Board of Health, for the use of our portable house, with extension piazza, until something more could be had. As the house now stands on Newton Hospital premises and very near several wards, it was necessary to receive permission from the Hospital to allow the building to be used by the City. A conference was held with the Hospital Corporation and we were advised to grant the use of the building, where it stands, for dispensary purposes. The furniture of the building was moved to the new building, and the building was to be used for future use. A letter received today from Dr. Curtis tells me that as soon as it can be cleaned and equipped it will be opened as a free dispensary for tubercular patients. Details have not been worked out yet. A tuberculosis hospital will be built in the near future.

Dr. Curtis writes, "The Hospital will be for end cases, but I hope to be able to handle a number of early cases, and try to educate them properly, so that they may be discharged, and under supervision of the nurse continue to be productive workers." We have offered our whole equipment, as a part of the working scheme of the hospital, when it is completed, or in starting the work, provided it is moved from present location to a satisfactory place. Here is the second encouraging development of our past efforts.

During the last season work of our Dental Clinic has gone more smoothly than ever before, with very few trying days when dentist or children, or both, failed to appear. The Clinic, situated in the old Clafin school building, Newtonville, has been open three half days each week. In addition to a maid in attendance, different members of the Social Service committee have been responsible for the smooth running of the Clinic for two weeks each. Certainly no one of those ladies has failed to be interested or see broad opportunity for service. The children are talkative and often tell of home conditions which are far from happy or comfortable. As in the past, with very few exceptions the children came to us only when recommended by school nurses, and with certificates from them, and first visits arranged by the nurses. After the first visit to the Clinic each child receives a certificate for other appointments from the maid in charge, under direction of dentist until there is no immediate need of further work. The children go away with evident pride in the condition of their teeth, and gratitude for relief from pain. Children have been brought to the Clinic as young as three.

We saw clearly early in the season that an effort must be made to reimburse funds for supporting the Clinic. A general appeal has been sent to the citizens of Newton, but the response has not been what we had hoped. The exact amount will be reported at a future meeting.

Newton dentists who have given their services at the Clinic during the winter are: Drs. A. C. Forbush, West Newton; G. F. Fair, Newton; E. U. Ford, Newtonville; Francis J. Costello, Newton; Sidney B. Sargent, West Newton; Robert Hayden, Newton Centre; Louis H. Marshall, Newton Highlands; E. J. Morse, Waban; Billings, Upper Falls and E. C. Leach of Newton Centre.

Dental work for the school children of the South district is under serious loss in the recent death of Dr. Leach. He has been from the first one of our most sincere friends. After working for time in the spring of 1913 in our Newton office, he gave us the entire day and use of his office one Saturday in every month. In fact Dr. Leach's last professional work was his generous contribution to the Dental Clinic work, all day in his office in Newton Centre. In the evening of the same day he attended a committee meeting of dentists in the interest of the clinic and was stricken on the way home with the serious illness from which he never entirely recovered.

On the evening of March 6th upon the invitation of the Federation officers the dentists interested in the Newton Clinic formed themselves into a committee for direction of the Clinic, and for taking steps toward ultimately placing the management in the hands of the City. At that meeting it was decided to avail ourselves of the privilege accorded Newton by the Forsythe Clinic and to send there all children under sixteen, and mature enough to go to that clinic unattended. As will be seen later our best method will be to care for the teeth of young children.

At a subsequent meeting it was decided to make a thorough examination of the teeth of public school children of Newton. Permission having been obtained from the superintendent of Schools and the chairman of the Board of Health, each of the dentists was assigned a district for examination remote from his own residence and district. This examination has been begun by the dentists assisted by the school nurses.

Report of work done at the Clinic since May, 1913, is as follows: Number of patients, 166; visits, 694; operations, 1071; average number of visits of one person, 4. Total number of cleanings, 33; treatments, 37; extractions, 130; cements, 25; amalgams, 218. Largest amount of money paid by one person, $1.60; by 2 persons, $1.40; by 3 persons, $1.30; by 10, $1.00.

Report of work done by Dr. Leach at his Newton Centre office. Total number of patients, 98; visits, 126; operations, 214; cleanings, 14; extractions, 83; treatments, 31; cements, 41; amalgams, 38; gutta serena, 7. The step which our Newton Dentists have taken in assuming management of our Dental Clinic and in presenting to the Board of Health the results of the school examination mentioned leads directly to our ultimate purpose, a dental clinic for school children supported by the City, or a City Dentist, as we now have a City Physician. Thus we have the third reason for great satisfaction in the results of 1914-1915.

Although totals from our effort to raise money for the Clinic have not been very satisfactory, we have met several very interesting experiences. One of them was a visit of a group of little girls, who brought to my home a May basket in the shape of a beautiful red rose in the heart of which was tucked away nearly $30, which they had earned by making and selling May baskets. The children were taken to visit the Clinic.

The dental survey in the Newton Centre district including Thompsonville shows that among 805 children there were found 2,333 cavities needing attention and of that number of children, 301 had never been to a dentist. Dr. Hayden reports of 2647 pupils examined, 8637 cavities, and in about 5% there is pus discharged into the mouth. Respectfully submitted, crowd. After a conference with the Chief of Police, arrangement was made to have an officer at hand to stop approaching autos, while pupils are taking or leaving cars.

Early in the autumn it became evident that, on account of the resignation of Mrs. Martin, who had been many years secretary of the Newton Associated Charities, time had come for co-operation with the group of people who had supported that work. You will remember that for several years the committee has worked toward the establishment of a central office or co-operative bureau of Newton activities.

A conference was called by officers and directors of the Associated Charities with members of the Federation. Mrs. McIntyre, the chairman of the Education committee and of the Social Service committee were present. After two conferences at the Associated Charities rooms, an executive group was formed, including representatives of the Associated Charities, from the Federation and other organizations. Officers and directors to represent as nearly as possible all parts of Newton were nominated and a tentative constitution and by-laws were drawn up. In February a mass meeting was held at the Newton Club to which all Newton citizens were invited. An unexpectedly large audience crowded the hall, all ready and enthusiastic for the proposed combination, and from this meeting the Newton Ladies' Home was born. Since then frequent meetings have been held and active measures taken to secure a working Secretary. The Federation has held in its treasury a sum of money which was raised in 1913 for the bureau. By vote of the Executive Board $500 has already been turned over to the Newton Ladies' Home, and a sum not to exceed $200 will be given each year for the next two years.

In a most gracious manner the Associated Charities group have agreed to drop their old name, especially the word charity. On May 5th, the first annual meeting of the Bureau will be held, the office opened for work very soon and from now on we must all work together, giving freely of time and thought toward its best interests. Thus we see materialized the dream which has taxed our patience so long.

For many years we have heard at each annual meeting report of the ups and downs of our anti-tuberculosis work, and Camp at the Newton Hospital. There also this year, 1915, brings us to a climax. During the last several years there has always been in mind the possibility of a city hospital for tuberculosis patients, and the use of our entire outfit in that connection. At intervals letters have been written to the State Committee, to the Mayor of Newton, and to other powers that were, urging the necessity of other conditions than those existing. Newton patients have been placed in the Waltham Hospital. There has been a considerable increase in the number of tuberculosis patients during the last winter. Request came for a tent from the Newton Board of Health. As the tents which we bought and used several years ago were almost all much worn, a new tent was bought and placed at the disposal of the Board of Health. It served for one patient in Newton Centre until the end of the year, and is now used in Auburn-dale, and the young man who is occupying it is reported much improved since he had the use of the tent.

Recently demand has come from the State that Newton should provide a hospital for its tuberculosis patients, Newton being published as one of nine delinquent cities, and July first set as the limit time, with heavy penalty if no provision is made before that time. You will remember that there has been continued effort for the part of your Social Service committee for years, to this very end.

Almost immediately upon publication of the State injunction we received request from Dr. Curtis, chairman of Newton Board of Health, for the use of our portable house, with extension piazza, until something more could be had. As the house now stands on Newton Hospital premises and very near several wards, it was necessary to receive permission from the Hospital to allow the building to be used by the City. A conference was held with the Hospital Corporation and we were advised to grant the use of the building, where it stands, for dispensary purposes. The furniture of the building was moved to the new building, and the building was to be used for future use. A letter received today from Dr. Curtis tells me that as soon as it can be cleaned and equipped it will be opened as a free dispensary for tubercular patients. Details have not been worked out yet. A tuberculosis hospital will be built in the near future.

Dr. Curtis writes, "The Hospital will be for end cases, but I hope to be able to handle a number of early cases, and try to educate them properly, so that they may be discharged, and under supervision of the nurse continue to be productive workers." We have offered our whole equipment, as a part of the working scheme of the hospital, when it is completed, or in starting the work, provided it is moved from present location to a satisfactory place. Here is the second encouraging development of our past efforts.

White House Coffee

The Encyclopedia Britannica speaks of coffee as an "important and valuable article of food used since 875 A.D." Also, "Coffee is exhilarating, lightens the sense of fatigue, and sustains strength under prolonged and severe exertion." It describes White House Coffee to the letter. We would only add that "White House" has a flavor never approached by any other coffee; its dependable quality and excellence is secured by expert blending of selections from the Mountain Districts of the Coffee World where come the sweetest Coffee, and the White House Brand is prepared for market and delivered to you just as we pack it in a thoroughly up-to-date coffee establishment, where all the weighing and handling is done by automatic machinery, in rooms continuously supplied with fresh air and flooded with sunlight. 1, 2 and 3-lb. sea can only. INTERESTING MEETINGS

The fare would be 10 cents and the investment would be about $6000. Mr. Powers recalled the attempt some years ago to get a trolley line thru this district and told how residents of Centre street wanted it on Waverley avenue and residents of Waverley avenue wanted the line on Centre street and how no location was granted.

This line, Mr. Powers said would in no way compete with the street railway, for persons who had the time could take the trolley route thru Newtonville for 6 cents. The needs of the locality require some such transportation, the Newton Golf Club will be served and the entire district is well built up. The line will only compete with the station carriages. Mr. Baker will accept all reasonable restrictions and provide insurance to pay $5000 in case of injury to any passenger. He then showed photographs and diagrams of the kind of bus it was proposed to operate.

Mr. A. A. Ballantyne representing the M. & B. St. Rwy. Co. said that while he did not appear in opposition to this particular petition, there were other petitions pending, which would compete with his company and he would state the general position of the Company on the jitney question. There is an extensive movement, he said, all over the country to authorize this kind of competition with railway business and in Waltham, there is a service paralleling one of their lines. The auto service is attractive, but its ultimate effect on the community has not been considered. If the revenue of the street railway company is affected, it will require a reduction in service. The question which the company ought to receive has recently been considered by the Public Service Commission and the right to charge a six cent fare was granted. The present revenues of the company have not been sufficient to keep up its property and the public has not paid for the cost of the service received. Another matter affecting the revenue of the Company is the agitation for lowering steps of cars, amounting to some $22,000 and we have told the Commission that our revenue now is not sufficient to meet this demand. The Company also contributes substantially to the city treasury, averaging about $10,000 a year of which about $5000 is specifically for maintenance of the highways and removal of snow. The jitney service would result in hard wear on the streets without any additional contribution to the city. He said he would be glad to see and see the railway snow plows remove the snow from their tracks and the jitneys using this cleared space on which to run and pick up their passengers. He criticized the jitney service as one of danger to passengers and persons using the streets, with no fixed investment, which would operate for a time and then move on to another city, and with no responsibility. Mr. Ballantyne said in closing that any action affecting the revenues of the company would have a serious effect to the company, to its men and to the public served.

Hearings were held on petitions of the Edison Co. for poles on Waterston road, for underground conduits in Lake avenue and Laurel street and for keeping gasoline on C. J. Bailey Street road. W. E. Webster, Waltham street, at which no one appeared and all were subsequently granted.

No one appeared at hearings on taking land for sewer in Playstead road and Indiana terrace and these matters were referred.

Street Commissioner Stuart reported completion of Nobscot road under the betterment act at a cost of $478.89.

Petitions of S. W. Tucker and A. D. Dowd for renewal of auctioneer licenses, of P. J. Flannery for renewal of wagon license, of Edward Lawton for a minor's license, of Moses Bilezikian, for pool tables at 791 Washington street, of the Edison Co. for attachments on Central and Hamilton street and of the Telephone Co. for attachments on Kenrick street, were granted.

Other petitions were received from Estate Thomas Boudrot for pool tables on Bridge street, Walter Winn for pool tables at 1110 Walnut street, of William Fitzpatrick for wagon license, Joseph Corsi for wagon license, James Thompson for wagon license, Waltham Auto Bus Co. for auto licenses, for street sprinkling on Everett street, Park avenue, Woodside road and Albemarle road, for sewers in Watertown street, between Wolcott and Rowe streets, Walnut street and Allen terrace, and Avalon road, of the Edison Co. for relocation on Reservoir avenue, and for the laying out and acceptance of Harrington street Barnstable road and Algonquin road.

On recommendation of committees claims of Francis A. Dow $630, James M. Cannon $148, George S. Noden $225, $30 expenses in Workmen's Compensation cases, were ordered paid, a relocation of tracks granted the M. & B. St. Rwy. Co. on Woodward street, licenses granted T. L. Bjornson, Harvard street, R. J. Huggard, Everett street and F. J. Fessenden, Albemarle road, permission to keep gasoline. Leave to withdraw was granted on petitions N. G. Terzian for pool table, A. Avantaggio to open on Sunday.

Michael Hughes, junk collector, D. P. Lynch, liquor transportation permit, J. D'Agostino, street musician, S. Lipton, common victualer, Anthony Morrell, pool table, Adams street, and on request for abatement of sewer assessments kadelite and Tamworth roads.

No action necessary was reported on transfer of motor cycle from Playground to Buildings Dept., on complaint of M. S. Williams relative to condition of Adams school, and on protest of E. E. E. against sewer in Aspley avenue.

The common victualer license granted Mrs. J. J. Cronin at 255 Washington street was revoked.

The application of Arthur L. Currier, H. S. Hiltz, Rev. G. G. Phipps, R. B. Rogers, J. T. Heath, J. Weston Allen and H. V. Bowen for incorporation as the Newton Highlands Sportsman's Club was approved.

The telephone no. Edison Co. were granted a joint location on Stearns street, the Telephone Co. attachments on Grant avenue, and the Edison Co. attachments on California, Crafts and Beacon streets and a relocation on Brooks avenue. $200 was appropriated for repairs of tennis courts at the High School, street sprinkling ordered on Madison avenue, Faxon street, Crescent street and Reservoir avenue. Hearings assigned on May 24 on taking land for sewer in Kelyden road and for laying out of Adams Street extension, Chandler street and Chesley road under betterment act, a sewer was authorized in Commonwealth avenue at Lexington street, $545 appropriated for construction of Beech street and $624 for concrete curbing on the same street, water mains were ordered on California street, Carlton road, Harris road, Harvard street, Playstead road, Waban Hill road, Wiltshire road and Wyoming road at cost of $3210, and a half holiday each week granted city laborers during June, July and August.

The Finance committee reported no action necessary on new automobiles for the Street and Engineering departments.

The appointment of Andrew Prior as sealer of weights and measures was taken from the table and confirmed with 1 vote in opposition.

Licenses of Fred A. Barabati and B. F. Lyons for pool tables were also taken from the table and granted.

A. J. Arnerman, Pres. explained that the Finance committee had tabled the matter of $12,100 for new heating apparatus at the Clafin school until definite bids had been received and that the matter of painting the exterior of the Technical High school was being investigated. The board then authorized $6357 for repairs at the Adams, Eliot, Emerson, Technical High, Williams, Hamilton schools and a new roof at the City Home.

The board adjourned at 9.35 until May 24.

A REPLY

In this article which appeared in last week's GRAPHIC, it is stated that woman's suffrage has spread from one state to another just as slavery spread from one state to another. The two are entirely different. Slavery spread because slaveholders had a right, (slaves being property) to take them into adjoining state and against the protest of the states. Woman's suffrage has spread by popular vote. If divorce decreased very perceptibly in Colorado, after women were given the ballot it seems sufficient proof of the good effects of suffrage in that particular state, to compare Colorado with other states, where there is less divorce, owing to the various influences is not a fair comparison. A man who takes physical exercise always measures his improvement by the growing strength of his own muscles, he does not compare his muscles with those of a prize fighter.

Anyone who has tried getting answers to questions sent through the mail knows that people generally will not take the trouble to reply. That first, Howe succeeded in getting so many in favor, and so few against, shows that there was no strength to the opposition, which is all the suffragists claim. Suffragists are of course, perfectly well aware that a large number of women are indifferent to the cause. The point is this, since of those interested in the subject at all the suffragists outnumber the anti-suffragists at least 2 to 1 it is not fair to say that "women do not want to vote." A good many of them have not yet made up their minds, but, as they become interested and reach a decision then they come over to the suffrage side in ever increasing numbers. This is how the suffrage party grows according to Sec. Bryan's statements, Nebraska was defeated by the liquor interests, and in most of the other defeated states the same interest was at work. There is nothing the saloon keepers and vicious interests dread so much as the woman's vote. George Creel has given in his lectures, all the pros and cons of the Judge Lindsey controversy which puts quite a different construction upon it from that given in this article. Judge Snell's statements have been fully refuted by two mayors of Tacoma, the present mayor and an ex-mayor. These comments are necessarily brief and are by no means all the writer would like to say on the subject but, a full reply would necessitate a very long article and the space might better be filled with some other items on this much alive topic of woman's suffrage.

WILBUR THEATRE—After all arrangements had been made for "A Pair of Sixes" to leave the Wilbur on May 15th, at the close of its remarkable run of 20 weeks in Boston, the demand for seats became so great that the management of the theatre realized it would be impossible to accommodate one-half of the people who desired to see this wonderful attraction before it left the city. "A Pair of Sixes" had already been announced for appearance in other cities who were clamoring for it; but by quick action all engagements were cancelled, and arrangements were made to have the Wilbur Theatre leave Boston for two weeks more. The wonderful cast of comedy stars remains unchanged, and those who have not already seen this play are advised to take advantage of the extended engagement not to miss the laughing treat of a lifetime. Matinees at the Wilbur are given Wednesday and Saturday.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—The summer stock season at the Majestic Theatre, Boston, under the direction of Lester Lonergan & Co., Inc., presenting the Lonergan Players, will begin next week with Lily Cahill, late star of "Under Cover," in that famous play, "Bought and Paid For." Performances will be given every afternoon as well as evening, and the opening performance will be Monday afternoon, May 17th. Miss Cahill was a decided Boston favorite during the 27 weeks run of "Under Cover" at the Plymouth Theatre and this, her first return to Boston since that remarkable engagement, insures her of a warm welcome from her thousands of admirers among Boston theatregoers. No new word of commendation is needed at this late date for "Bought and Paid For," a play that held the stage in New York continuously for two seasons, and as now presented with Miss Cahill heading the cast of splendid Lonergan Players.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE MEETINGS

Lectures Recently Given at West Newton by Dr. Ernest Bernbaum of Harvard

The Anti-Suffrage Association of Newton has held two well attended meetings at the home of Mrs. W. B. H. Dowse, Temple street, West Newton, and heard Dr. Ernest Bernbaum of Harvard University give his reasons for his firm belief in Anti-Suffrage. He has made an exhaustive study of the results of giving women the franchise and statistics gathered from nations in the woman suffrage states prove that the vast majority of women do not fulfill their obligations in this regard. They either do not want to vote, or are indifferent to the obligation.

This will, and does result in a decrease in interest of the electorate in the affairs of government, a condition which always diminishes the opposition to those who conduct politics as a business organization for their own ends.

He illustrated this by examples of the process and its results in woman suffrage states, and maintained that the laws of Mass. and of other male suffrage states are evidence that men conduct the affairs of government better, better than the comparatively few women who would take advantage of the opportunity to conduct them for themselves.

Dr. Bernbaum said that for two generations great sums of money have been spent by suffragists in prosecuting their campaign, and that after all publicity, the membership in the suffrage organizations in Massachusetts is less than five per cent of the men of the state.

Such a propaganda would have been successful decades ago, he said, if it had common sense on its side. The suffragists have no right to ask for women, nor to consider themselves the "enlightened minority."

ordained to impose the ballot upon the rest of their sex. He spoke of the bitter opposition of the suffragists to the Drury bill, which would permit women of the state to vote "Yes" or "No" on the suffrage question, as proof that the suffragists know that the majority of women do not want the vote.

Woman suffrage is not necessary to promote humane legislation. The state with the best group of laws protecting women in industry is Massachusetts. The mismanagement and rioting in Colorado is an example of a state having woman suffrage.

The activity of women for social betterment when used in a non-partisan way, is much more efficacious than in any other.

Miss Mabel Boardman, the head of the Red Cross, is an example of a woman working in a non-partisan way; as she has absolutely refused to go into politics, realizing it would hamper her usefulness.

Dr. Bernbaum will deliver another lecture this evening at eight o'clock at the residence of Mrs. W. B. H. Dowse, Temple street, West Newton, which it is hoped will be largely attended by men of this city. Mrs. Henry Preston White will also speak.

An Anti-Suffrage meeting was held at the home of Mrs. James L. Richards, Kirkstall road, Newtonville, Friday morning, May 14.

Mrs. Benjamin L. Robinson of Cambridge gave a most illuminating talk on the Anti-Suffrage question.

Great interest was shown and many questions asked and answered.

This meeting will soon be followed by a tea at Mrs. William H. Lucas, Kirkstall road, Newtonville, where there will again be a speaker.

Representative Clyde H. Tavenner of Illinois has a picturesque Memorial Day story, which is so vivid as to be almost gruesome. The congressman was sitting in the office of Pension Commissioner Saltzgeber. On the wall was an electric clock. Every so often there was a soft whirr which meant that the telegraph wire had carried a current adjusting the clock to the exact second accuracy. After each whirr came an interval of silence.

"Four more of the boys have gone," Tavenner quotes Saltzgeber as saying. "That is the rate now at which they are dying. I sometimes imagine a clock with a pendulum that swings just once every fifteen minutes. At every tick of that clock one of the boys falls."

Ten months ago there were 462,079 Civil War pensioners on the Government pension rolls. On April 30 there were only 453,693. Today, a month later, they number in the neighborhood of 432,000. The death rate is estimated at one hundred a day—a full brigade a month. "Give me back those who died since yesterday noon," said the Commissioner, "and I will form a parade longer than will march in most towns this year. Give me the brigade that died since one month ago and I will form a parade longer than will march in any city this Decoration Day."

FOLK DANCING

Enjoyable Entertainment for Benefit of Mothers' Rest

The handsome and quaint residence of Mr. and Mrs. Addison C. Burnham on Bracebridge road, Newton Centre, presented a scene of splendor on Saturday afternoon, when about 400 guests were entertained at a novel dancing exhibition, for the benefit of the Mothers' Rest Association.

The guests assembled from 3 until 5, in "Jolly's Hollow," the picturesque valley in the rear of the house. It is like an amphitheatre, and admirably suited to an occasion of the sort. The various groups of dancers in their brilliant costumes, with a background of dark green foliage, made a very beautiful picture. They danced to the accompaniment of delightful music by Mr. Jack Spaulding, violinist, and Miss Annie Chapin, pianist.

The program included a variety of exhibitions of English folk-dancing by Mrs. James Storrow's pupils, and was under the efficient management of Miss Sandford. It opened with the Tideswell Processional, and the dancers emerged from behind the cedar hedge, dancing across the little stone bridge, and around the Hollow, just as they dance from village to village, in England.

Mr. Fairbanks, of the Stratford School of England delighted the audience with his clever interpretation of the "Princess Royal," and other solo dances, which he gave for encore. Miss Albena Mangin, of Boston, executed most gracefully, a Tarentella, which elicited much merited applause.

There were three groups besides the solo dancers, a group of Newton Centre, children, very prettily attired in white, with touches of green, who gave three English dances, an "Irish Lilt," and a Hungarian Czardas; a group of Italian girls from Boston; and a group of Mrs. Storrow's pupils, young men and women members of her Boston classes.

The three kinds of English dances demonstrated were "The Country Dance," "The Sword Dance," and the "Morris Dance." There were also pleasing illustrations of Irish, Swedish, Hungarian, Norwegian, Italian, and Russian dances, the dancers being very attractively attired in native costumes, and the large company of spectators were most enthusiastic in showing their appreciation of the dancing by frequent and liberal applause.

At the close, the Tideswell was again played, and the performers danced gaily from the valley. It was a wondrously beautiful and effective scene, and much credit for the success of the affair is due Miss Sandford who directed the dancing.

Candy, ice cream and lemonade were on sale at small tables, during the intermissions, and in the evening social dancing was enjoyed indoors from 5 until 7.

Guests of social prominence were present from Boston, Brookline, Milton, Cambridge, Wayland and the Newtons.

IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

Enjoyable Talk and Exhibition of Photographs at Newtonville on Monday

The Newtonville Improvement Association held its annual meeting at Denison hall on Monday evening, May 17. At about quarter of eight an informal reception was held in the Ladies' Parlor, the walls of which were hung with exquisite selections from the famous "Nutting Photographs," with the key, Wallace Nutting, maker of the pictures, present to answer questions.

The feature par excellence of the evening was the illustrated lecture by Mr. Nutting entitled "Old New England Homesteads and their Furnishings." In introducing Mr. Nutting to the members of the Improvement Association and their guests, Mr. Lyon, the President, said the lecture had been specially designed for the pleasure and instruction of the Ladies, as the Executive Committee felt that the beautiful interiors with their wealth of really old furniture would appeal to the homemakers, most of whom it was believed had the "old Furniture Bug" to a greater or less extent.

With an easy charm of manner and a perfect command of his subject, the lecturer held his audience in rapt attention for two hours, while his assistant threw upon the screen pictures after picture, each, if it were possible, more entrancing than the last, telling the story connected with one, the time of day for photographing another, the effort he had made to secure just the correct piece of furniture to fit into certain surroundings, never satisfied until he had the perfect whole. While the gentlemen appeared quite as interested in the fascinating Colonial houses as did the ladies, there is no doubt that the latter longed eagerly to be attired in the bewitching old-time gowns and bonnets worn by the lovely damsels who gave a living charm to Mr. Nutting's architectural settings. Even the useful and ever present bandbox of our grandmothers' day was shown by the lecturer to have its special antique lore, the fashion demanding that it be covered with the same kind of wall paper as the room in which it stood awaiting the reposing under its cover of my Lady's best cap or bonnet.

Alternating with the pictures setting forth the domestic art of early New England were landscapes of wondrous beauty in both color and make-up, predominating among them New England's springtime pink and white perfection of Apple blossoms. Hills and valleys, birch fringed stretches of country road, winding streams and quiet pools with their mirrored repli-cas of sky and foliage, even the well known covered bridge of country drives—all entered into the conspiracy by which Mr. Nutting seizes Beauty wherever he finds it and conserves it in its many forms to give delight to his fellow men. Every one in the audience had heard of "Nutting Photographs" and had perhaps one treasured example hung in a choice corner of den or living room, but not one admiring listener had even a remote idea of the wide and wonderful scope of Mr. Nutting's art.

Following the lecture came a social hour with the serving of light refreshments, and one more delightful evening was written in record of the Association which does for Newtonville a unique and gratifying work.

At the business meeting preceding the literary and social program the following officers were elected to serve for the coming year.

President, Albert M. Lyon; vice-presidents, Albert P. Carter, H. G. McKerrow, John R. Prescott; secretary, treasurer, Harry D. Cabot; executive committee, the above officers and the following persons: Horton S. Allen, William H. Allen, G. W. Auryansen, Charles D. Cabot, Charles W. Davidson, Louis E. G. Green, Herbert K. Hallett, Rev. R. T. Loring, Charles R. Lynd, G. B. H. Macomber, G. F. Malcolm, Warner Marshall, Ernest L. Miller, Frank L. Nagle, Lincoln Righter, Alfred M. Russell, W. G. Starkweather, Charles L. Wilkins.

ASK VOTE TO GET LAWS ENFORCED

A plea for a more rigid enforcement of the child labor laws in the South was made by Miss Jean Gordon, president of the Louisiana W. S. A., on Woman and Child Labor, in an address at one session of the Child Labor Conference in Memphis, Tennessee, last week.

"Until the laws are properly enforced all the legislation now contemplated will amount to naught and more than 300,000 child toilers in the mills and factories of the South will continue to be sweat shop victims," Miss Gordon declared. "We are striving for a 15-year law and an 8-hour day, but legislation without proper enforcement is worse than no legislation."

"The granting of the right of the ballot to woman would assure the child worker real protection," she said. "It is the women who are seeing to what little enforcement there is."

TEAM WORK

Members of the Unity Club of Newton, with a cast of bright faced youths, and pretty maidens, entertained large audiences on Wednesday and Thursday evening, when they presented the college play, "Team Work," in the hall at the Hunnewell Club.

The play was in three acts, the first being laid in the dining-room at Forest Lodge, Tufts College. The young people gathered around the breakfast table, made a very realistic scene, and their impersonation of the various characters were so natural, and true to life, that they fairly overflowed with the rollicking activity of college youth.

Mr. Carl Harding, as "Stewart Almy," familiarly known as "Toot," and Mr. Edward Doherty, as "William Jefferson Jordan," or "Shine," members of the "Paint and Powder," a dramatic club, were certainly cut out for the "college cut up" part, which they played to perfection. Mr. Ralph Forth, as "Bob Richards," captain of the football team and host at Forest lodge, had one of the leading roles, and he "made good" displaying natural abilities, not only as a football player, but also as an actor; Lyle Stocker, as "H. Gardner Humphrey," football manager, made a tremendous "hit"; he had a difficult part but made it appear easy, and was very popular with the audience, as well as the young lady students. Philip Horne, as "Frank Bell," the electrician for the Club, was a "winner," and displayed great dramatic talent, but it was up to "Bill Black" (C. Azel Collins), "Jack Brown" (Lothair Van Buskirk), "Tom White" (Van Buren Colby), and "Sam Green" (Albert Kerr), as stage hands and members of the Paint and Powder quartet, to bring convulsions of laughter, and they received enthusiastic encore.

Francis Caverly, played the role of "Messenger Boy" in fine shape; the young ladies in the cast carried off a large share of the honors. The Misses Dorothy Perkins, Marguerite Collins, and Katherine Gagne, were excellent in the role of students at Jackson College. Miss Perkins as "Dorothy Sprague," played the part in an exceedingly pleasing manner, and Miss Collins, as "Edith Richards," "Bob's" sister, was altogether charming in the role which she played with perfect ease, and displayed great dramatic talent.

Miss Katherine Gagne was very clever and attractive in the role of "Ruth Sargent," and her natural manner of acting won much favorable comment. Miss Millicent Perkins, represented a Radcliffe student, "Amy Sinclair Granby," friend of "Edith," and did some very clever acting. Miss Helen Morton, as "Mrs. Hodgkins," "Bob's" aunt, the chaperone, made the most of the part assigned her, and acquitted herself very creditably. In all of the parts, considerable talent was exhibited, and the young people are to be congratulated on the success which they achieved.

An especially entertaining feature of the show was the singing by the "Paint and Powder" Quartet, and the solo singing by Mr. C. Azel Collins, tenor.

of the Newtonville Universalist Church Quartet, and Mr. Lothair Van Buskirk. Mr. Collins sang "Within the Garden of My Heart," and was rapturously applauded; he has a tenor voice of rare quality and sweetness, and his singing is of that fine quality which appeals irresistibly to an audience. Mr. Van Buskirk is also an exceptionally fine soloist, and his song, "My Little Gray Home in the West," was very enthusiastically encored.

The entertainment was well staged under the management of Mr. Arthur Wright, and the stage scenery was very effective, the college colors and banners being used in decoration.

The stage managers included Messrs. Reginald Caverly, Lothair I. Van Buskirk and C. Azel Collins, and they are deserving of much credit for the success of the entertainment.

Cole's Orchestra was in attendance and furnished a very delightful program of popular music during the intermissions and for the dancing which followed. The proceeds are for the benefit of the Vacation Week fund.

WILL BUILD STORAGE PLANT
It was recently stated in a local paper that the new Crystal Lake Ice Co. intended to erect an artificial ice plant. This is an error for only a fireproof ice storage house on Crystal Lake is contemplated by this concern. The Company expects to work in harmony with the Purity Ice Co., whose artificial ice plant will be completed in the early fall, but the two companies will remain separate and distinct.

The interest in temperance work is greatly increasing as shown in the gains in membership by most of the Unions in the county. Melrose is the Banner City, having gained 180 members since last October. West Newton Union have endorsed the nomination of William Shaw for Governor of Massachusetts by voting financial assistance in the campaign which has begun. He is known throughout the country through his activity many years in Christian Endeavor work, and is General Secretary at the present time. A map was displayed on which the Prohibition States are white, and a great difference was noted between the map of two years ago and the recent one of April 1915. The states which have outlawed the liquor traffic are Maine in 1851, Kansas 1880, North Dakota 1889, Georgia 1907, Oklahoma 1906, Mississippi 1908, North Carolina 1908, Tennessee 1909, West Virginia 1912, Virginia 1914, Colorado 1914, Oregon 1914, Washington 1914, Arizona 1914, Alabama 1915, Arkansas 1915, Iowa 1915, Idaho 1915. In some of the states mentioned the law will not go into effect until some time in 1916. Two more states are to vote on the question this year, and still others in 1916. The map will be all white when Christian people will and work for it. After a bountiful collation served by the hostess, a piano solo was given by Miss Edith Richardson and two songs by Miss Marie Laffie which were much enjoyed. The President, Mrs. Mason had the pleasure of pinning the badge of the Society, a white ribbon bow, upon a new member; this makes 5 members received since last fall.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The reorganization of the Boston & Maine and the censorship of theatrical performances in the city of Boston have held the stage at the State House this week and by the passage of the railroad bill by the House and by the adoption of important amendments, by the House to the railroad bill and by the Senate to the censorship bill, each branch will have an opportunity to reconsider both of these important measures.

The closest fight came on the amendment to the censorship bill in the Senate, where it was decided that a majority of the board of censors (instead of a unanimous vote) should bar the presentation of improper plays and performances. This amendment was adopted by a vote of 20 to 18, Senator Ellis voting with the majority and reconsideration the succeeding day was only defeated by President Coolidge casting a vote to make a tie on that question. The whole matter therefore came into the House on Wednesday and the amendment was accepted by a fairly good majority.

The great fight on the railroad bill in the House came over the provisions regarding the Hampden railroad, the Senate having refused to adopt Senator Ellis's amendment to allow the company to dispose of its holdings in this subsidiary company on such terms as the Public Service commission might sanction. This amendment, however, was passed, with one or two others of minor importance, and went back to the Senate on Wednesday. The upper branch refused to accept this amendment, however, and asked for a committee of conference. Representative Bothwell being appointed one of the three conferees from the House.

As noted last week, Governor Walsh's veto of the liquor transportation bill was sustained by the House on Friday morning by a vote of but 33 in favor of the bill and 103 in favor of the veto. Representatives Bothwell and Weston voted against the veto and Mr. Allen was not recorded.

The bill to authorize a new bridge over the Charles river between Auburndale and Weston or to reconstruct the present bridge has passed the House and is now before the Senate Ways and Means. As stated last week, the bill places 50 per cent of the estimated cost of $50,000 on the park district, 25 per cent on Newton, 10 per cent on Weston and 15 per cent on the county. The work is to be done by the metropolitan park commissioners according to plans which must be approved by the city government of Newton and the authorities of Weston, and the act itself must be accepted by both municipalities. It is a matter of regret that the apportionment established when the Boylston street bridge was built some time ago, could not have been followed, as the city's share of that matter was but 16 per cent. Mary T. MacGrath '10, Boston University '14, who has been assisting Charlton Black has taken a position as teacher of German and English in the Hudson High School.

CARLISLE-EMERSON

A pretty church wedding was that on Monday evening at Channing Church, Newton, when Miss Louise Emerson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hobart Emerson of Hovey street became the bride of Mr. William Smyth Carlisle, Dartmouth '11, of Brooklyn, N. Y. The spacious church was made smaller by an artistic use of fir trees which enclosed half the pews and was reached thru an arch of rambler roses. The entrance of each pew was decorated with an arrangement of candles, and the pulpit was adorned with mountain laurel.

The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by Rev. Harry Lutz, pastor of the church. The bride wore an empire waist, trimmed with rose point lace and silver roses, with a skirt of tiers of silk net edged with satin folds, a court train of pauze velvet and rose point lace and her veil was held by full of duchess lace and orange blossoms. She carried gardenias and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Warren Cram Agry of Chicago was the matron of honor and wore white silk net edged with satin bands and trimmed with clusters of pink roses. She carried pink roses. Mary Russ of Lincoln was the flower girl, wearing white taffeta, and carried a basket of Mignon rosebuds.

Mr. Robert Keeler Carlisle of Bridge-water, Conn., was the best man and the ushers were Messrs. Francis Quackenbos of Worcester, William S. Pounds of Brooklyn, John C. Sterling of Bridgeport, Conn., and Jonathan Ingersoll of Cleveland, O., classmates of the groom. Dartmouth '11, and H. Bigelow Emerson and Edward F. Emerson, of Newton, brothers of the bride.

A largely attended reception was held immediately after the ceremony at the Hunnewell Club which was decorated with snap dragon, ferns and palms. Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle were assisted in receiving their friends by Mr. and Mrs. Emerson, parents of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. William Gates Carlyle, parents of the groom.

An interesting feature of the wedding was the fact that Mr. Frank O. Nash, the organist, played in the same church at the wedding of the bride's parents, twenty-eight years ago.

NARROW ESCAPE

Albert McNamara of Marlboro street and William T. Rich, Jr., of Sargent street, pupils at the Newton High School, had a narrow escape from a serious accident, while returning from school Tuesday afternoon on a motor cycle. McNamara, who owns the machine, was driving and at the corner of Cabot and Centre streets, Newton, came into collision with an automobile owned by Mr. Wood, and which was one of seventeen machines in which the young ladies of Mt. Ida school were on their way to their annual outing at Lake Nagog. The motor cycle was going quite fast and struck the automobile just in the rear of the front seats. Both lads were thrown out, and cut and bruised and Mr. Wood who was on the front seat of his machine was struck across the nose and eyes with a part of the motor cycle. The boys were taken to the Newton Hospital where Rich was discharged that evening and McNamara the next morning. The automobile had the step and mud guards broken.

RECITAL

A noteworthy musical event of the week was the annual recital by the pupils of Mr. Charles Norman Sladen. The hall at the Hunnewell Club was filled with a large and enthusiastic audience and a select program of 18 numbers was presented. The diversified selections by the famous composers, which were rendered with such perfect ease and proper understanding by the soloists, were very pleasing to the audience.

The program opened with "The Miller's Wooing," by the United Chorus of Grace Church, assisted by Albert Edwards, soloist; Arditti's "Magnetic Waltz" was excellently rendered by Miss Edna L. Banks.

Two very pleasing soprano solos, "A Little While," by Miss Gertrude McNamara, and "Life's Merry Morn," by Miss Metellina Maxin, contralto, and Mr. James H. Townsend, baritone, were received with much merited applause. Mr. Townsend was also heard in a group of songs, "When the Dew is Falling," and "For You Alone," which were remarkably well rendered.

Miss Sladen, contralto of the Newtonville Universalist Church Quartet, contributed a group of songs, "Beautiful Land of Nod," "Twas April," and "Four Leaf Clover," and her charm of voice and manner won immediate and pronounced approval.

The singing of "Irish Folk Song," and "Sing, Smile, Slumber," by Edward Wheeler, with violin obligato by Barrows Whittemore, were among the enjoyable numbers on the program and Liszt's "Consolation" was admirably rendered by Mrs. George Owen.

A group of songs by Miss Lynch were received with great enthusiasm, and Miss Theresa Cram, who possesses a very sweet and well trained soprano voice, sang Arditti's "Parla," with wondrously pleasing effect.

Miss Amy Hubbard proved herself a very clever and versatile entertainer, and made a decided "hit" in the monologues, "The Woman in the Shoe Store," and "The Woman at the Beach."

Mr. Elisha L. Avery, director of the choir of St. John's church, who has an exceptional fine tenor voice, sang a group of songs, "If I were King," and "Israel," and was enthusiastically applauded. A group of songs by Mr. E. F. Leighton, baritone, and a group by Miss Vanessa Denton, soprano, received a liberal amount of applause and a duet, "In Our Boat," by Miss Alice Sampson, contralto, and Mr. Ralph Somers, baritone, both well known singers of ability in church and concert work, was of exceptional musical merit.

Miss Sampson and Mr. Somers each sang a group of songs which were also greatly appreciated.

The singing of "Sunrise," by the Woman's Auxiliary Choir and Men of Grace Church Choir, completed a program which reflected great credit on both teacher and pupils, many of the singers who participated, having sung prominent parts in musical events, and numerous concert and entertainment throughout the city during the past year. The accompanists included Miss Florence Carter, Mrs. Elliott D. Church, Mrs. George Owen, Miss Veronica Rediker and Mrs. Edward S. Wheeler.

DANCING PARTY

Miss Marion Marvin entertained a large company of young people at a very delightful dancing party on Wednesday evening at her residence on Chestnut street, West Newton.

The living-room, reception room, and drawing-room were converted into a ball room for the occasion, and were attractively decorated with palms and cut flowers. In the dining-room, where refreshments were served, the table was decorated in scheme of yellow with jonquills and yellow marguerites.

Cole's orchestra was in attendance until 11 o'clock, after which music was furnished by Mr. Poucher, of Harvard, Mr. George Hohl, and Mr. Fritz Glenn, and the dancing continued until one o'clock. The well arranged order included all of the latest society dances, one-step, Fox-trot, Canter, hesitation and maxixe.

Among the guests, some of whom were students of The Garland School, Boston, were the Misses Mary Latimer, Mary Folsom and Mary S. Meriel of Brookline, Miss Gladys Spaulding of Winchester, Miss Elsa Livermore and Miss Helen Sargent of Cambridge, Miss Elizabeth Beason and Miss Sallie Damon of Newton, Mr. Donald Burton, Tech '16, of Ashbury Park, New Jersey; Mr. Fritz Glenn, Tech '16, of Portland, Oregon; Mr. George Hohl, Tech '16, of Eastern, Pennsylvania; Mr. George Sagar, Harvard '16, of Methuen, Mass.; Mr. Percy McKee, Harvard '16, of New York City; Mr. Berford Walley, U. ANNUAL RECITAL

A large audience assembled in the hall at the Newton Club last week on Thursday evening, the occasion being the annual recital by the pupils of Miss Helen Douglas, principal of the Pianoforte and Theory Students' Association.

As in previous years, this recital proved most enjoyable as well as profitable; the papers upon the lives of the great composers, which were read by some of the younger students, were of special note, all of them showing faithful preparation.

The attendance was much larger than in former years, and although the program was very long, all waited to hear Mr. John Hermann Loud, one of Boston's leading musicians, play a stirring group of solos by Godeard Rache, Liszt and Chopin. Mr. Loud responded graciously to several encores.

Miss Douglas and Mr. Loud each received a large bouquet of flowers from the Association in appreciation of their kindness.

A LIFE OF GREAT PROMISE

Illiant Record Made by Mr. Carlton T. Brodriek a Victim of the Lusitania Disaster

The death of Carlton Thayer Brodriek, at the age of twenty-eight years, was a tragedy to the people of Newton. He was drowned in the "Lusitania" on May 7th, the mining profession has lost a young engineer of exceptional promise, and Harvard University one of the most brilliant of its younger graduates.

Born in Dorchester on January 22nd, 1887, Brodriek passed his boyhood in Newton, where he attended the Hyde Grammar School and the Newton High School, from which he graduated in 1904 with a record of scholarship behind him.

MR. CARLTON T. BRODRICK

During his college career at Harvard University, which he entered in the fall of that year, his marked abilities as a student in chemistry, mathematics and geology, won him a place in the foremost ranks of his class and his junior year a coveted "Deturze" awarded for special distinction in scholarship. Graduating with honors in 1908 Brodriek remained for another year's work at the University, where he was a member of the Phi Kappa Phi honor society. He received his degree in geology and geology, and although he left to accept a position before completing his professional degree, was given the degree of Master of Science.

Throughout his college course Brodriek showed a lively interest in mining geology, and during his summer vacations made many trips, both for the pleasure and on his own account, to the Rocky Mountain regions, British Columbia and other points in the north.

His professors who guided his work in now speak of the energy and enthusiasm he manifested in making his researches, and of his constant interest in applying and working out the field at every opportunity the opportunities studied in the classroom. His extraordinary facility in languages enabled Brodriek during these years to continue his engineering studies in the works of Russian, Swedish and Italian authorities, as well as French and German, until in 1910, when he left his college courses to accept an appointment in the United States Geological Survey, he had a knowledge and grasp of his subject remarkably wide for a man of his years.

His work in the Government service at Washington early attracted the attention of Sidney H. Ball, the well-known mining engineer, who took Brodriek with him in the fall of that year to the Athabasca district in southwestern Siberia. There they remained six months, engaged in geological studies, particularly of copper occurrences, in which Brodriek's work proved so sound that he was engaged the next year as mining geologist by the Russo-Asiatic Company, controlling large mining interests in the Kyshtim district of the Ural Mountain region.

At that time the Russo-Asiatic Company was just at the beginning of its enormous development, and soon Brodriek, who was then only in his twenty-fourth year, was being sent all over Russia and Siberia to investigate new properties and report on their mining possibilities, a work which required the exercise, not only of expert knowledge, but also of sound and far-seeing judgment.

Signal success in this work led to further promotion, and in less than two years, Brodriek was advanced to the post of consulting geologist to the Russo-Asiatic Company. In this capacity he examined and reported upon a considerable number of important Russian and Siberian mining properties, of which the following have since become of notable interest: Tanalyk, Verkh Issetsk, Missa, Sissert, and Revda. His latest work was an examination of the wonderful Ridder mining properties in western Siberia, which are generally regarded by mining experts as one of the four or five great mining developments of the decade.

To an engineer as young as Brodriek, it was no slight recognition on the part of the Company in his judgment and ability that he should have been given the opportunity of being closely identified with the early development of a mining proposition of such magnitude and importance.

During these few years of rapid advancement and widening experience in his profession, Brodriek never lost active interest in his Alma Mater, and he made a practice of devoting a major part of the vacations spent in this country to the service of the Geological Museum of Harvard University. There he brought together specimens from foreign districts he had examined, and formed a large and valuable collection of Russian and Siberian ores, supplemented by an unusually complete fund of information gathered by him as to their occurrence in the field.

Living his life to the fullest, in work, travel and constant research, he allowed himself few leisure moments throughout his brief professional career. The few weeks spent in London

FIFTY YEARS SERVICE

Mr. F. H. Ratcliffe of Newton Centre Pensioned by New York Central Railroad Co.

Mr. Frank Houghton Ratcliffe, after a notable service of more than fifty consecutive years in the same office of the Boston & Albany R. R., on Tuesday reached the age of 70 years and on June 1st his name will be put on the pension rolls. This uninterrupted service of over fifty years in the Treasurer's office of the Boston & Albany R. R. establishes a record for continuity which has been excelled in but few instances so far as is known among New England Railroads. Mr. Ratcliffe was born at Faversham, Kent, England on May 26th, 1845 and came to Boston in October, 1854. As a boy he attended the old Brimmer School, and at the age of 14 went to work for Jos. Whitely & Co., wholesale boot, shoe and leather house at 40 Pearl street. On January 16th, 1865 he went into the office of the Treasurer of the Western Railroad as a clerk, which office was then located at the Railroad Exchange in Court Square back of the old Boston Museum. In 1866 the office was moved to 40 State street. On September 4th, 1867 occurred the corporate union of the Boston and Worcester R. R. and the Western Railroad and the Albany and West Stockbridge R. R. under the title of the Boston & Albany Railroad. Mr. Ratcliffe continued his service in the office of the Treasurer of what had now become the Boston & Albany Railroad Company, as Chief Clerk. In 1880 the offices were moved to the old B. & A. station on Beach street, and in February of 1890 Mr. Ratcliffe was appointed Assistant Treasurer. He was made Treasurer of the Boston & Albany R. R. on September 27th, 1899. In 1900 the Boston & Albany was merged into the New York Central Railroad and since November 10 of that year Mr. Ratcliffe has served in a dual capacity having two titles. He is Treasurer of the Boston & Albany Railroad Company, and Cashier at Boston for the New York Central Railroad. The rules of the New York Central Railroad, which leases and operates the Boston & Albany require that when an employee reaches the age of 70 he shall be transferred to the pension roll, therefore Mr. Ratcliffe will, on June 1st, cease to be the Cashier for the New York Central and go on the pension roll, but he will continue to serve as Treasurer of the Boston & Albany Railroad Company.

His duties as Cashier at Boston will hereafter be assumed by Mr. W. R. Holt, Paymaster at Boston, with offices in the South Station.

Mr. Ratcliffe resides on Rice street, Newton Centre. Since the foundation of Trinity Parish, Newton Centre, Mr. Ratcliffe has served as Vestryman, Junior warden and Senior warden, retiring from that service in 1904. He has always taken a great interest in music, and was for several years secretary of the Boylston Club.

IMPORTANT CHANGES

To be Made by Boston Elevated Company at Lake Street Terminal

The orders passed by the aldermen on Monday evening, when approved by the Public Service Commission will authorize a great improvement in the transportation system at the junction of the Boston Elevated and the Middlesex & Boston railways at Lake street and Commonwealth avenue, where by the present plan of transfers in the centre of the street will be abolished and a more modern and adequate method adopted. The Elevated Company owns land between Lake street and the territory of the Metropolitan Water Board. This track runs back to the base of Waban Hill and not far from the links of the Commonwealth Country Club. On it a structure of steel and concrete will be erected, which will afford upper and lower levels for operating cars.

Outbound cars will swing to the right from Commonwealth avenue, after passing Lake street, and will go down a five per cent grade to a platform where they will unload. Then they will pass around a loop, climbing all the way, and coming back on a track ten feet higher than the one used to enter the station. They will stop at a loading platform parallel to the unloading platform. When loaded they will descend to the street level, again cross the northerly roadway of Commonwealth avenue and return to Boston.

The cars of the Middlesex & Boston Company will go through a similar process but in reverse. Cars entering the transfer station from Auburndale or Newton Highlands will climb a five per cent grade, unload, traverse the loop to a lower level, load and then return to the tracks on the avenue.

Thus passengers who wish to transfer from the cars of one company to those of another will walk across a platform without climbing any stairs or incline. As far as Boston traffic is concerned, the lower level of the station will be for in-bound travel and the upper level for out-bound travel. Passengers from the street will enter the station at a point near the car entrance, pay their fares and then either descend or ascend a few steps to board their cars.

The project has been pending for six months and there has been some opposition from abutters and from the authorities of Boston College. All these feared a car barn or a machine shop was to be erected there, but the official

SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

Anti-Suffrage Association Holds Bridge Party in West Newton

Mrs. John W. Weeks opened her residence on Valentine street, West Newton on Wednesday afternoon for an Auction Bridge, in the interests of Anti-Suffrage.

A very large and enthusiastic company of guests assembled in the dining room, reception rooms, and music room, where about twenty-two tables were arranged. The rooms were attractively decorated with beautiful red roses, azaleas and potted plants, and souvenirs were awarded the successful contestants.

At the close of the game, Mrs. Swan Hartwell chairman of the committee, introduced the speaker, Mrs. W. W. Churchill of Milton, who gave an earnest and inspiring address on the reasons why women should not vote. Mrs. Churchill said that she felt considerable embarrassment in being called upon to address the company as she thought it rather presumptuous to talk on political questions in Senator Weeks' house, but she felt that they all appreciated the stand he had taken and he had advertised his own position in the cause of Anti-Suffrage, when he said that he would rather face political defeat than go back on principles, and it was gratifying to the Anti-Suffragists that all of the nine Senators who were blacklisted by the Suffragists had been elected. It is also gratifying to have such men as Murray Weeks, Senator Lodge and Senator Crane in favor of Anti-Suffrage.

In California where women have the vote only about 19 per cent of the women voted at the last Presidential election; 86 per cent of the registered women voters could not get the women sufficiently interested to vote. Less than 2 per cent of the women of Massachusetts voted on the School Committee at the last election.

From a financial standpoint the Council speaking for suffrage for the Drury Bill, said it would cost $100,000, for women to vote on the Drury Bill. If it would cost that amount of money for women to vote on the Drury Bill, what would be the cost to settle the many other questions Mrs. Churchill believes that both the Antis and the Suffragists are working for the same object, that is, working for the uplift of humanity and for the best interests of the people, but the Suffragist believes that this end can only be attained by means of the ballot. Unless

ALDERMEN GRANT TRACK LOCATION

Elevated Road Authorized to Make Important Change Near Lake Street

The aldermen held a brief but important meeting on Monday night with President Blanchard in the chair and Aldermen Cox and Clark the only members absent.

After routine hearings, the following petitions to keep gasoline were granted.

T. Stuart and Sons Co., 22 Pearl street; Martin Quinan, 257 Pearl street; Charles Whittemore, 73 Summit street; E. W. Kellogg, 67 Prescott street; Ralph W. Wales, 15 Bowers street; E. E. Adams, 367 Waltham street; Clarence T. Weaver, 12 Warwick road; F. P. Jones, 432 Deham street; R. H. Stevens, 256 Lake avenue; William F. Boos, 26 Windsor road; Edmund W. Clap, 80 Pine Ridge road; John H. Lesh, 955 Beacon street; Frank N. Nathan, 518 Commonwealth avenue; Mabel L. Browne, 110 Waban Hill road; Arthur T. Bradley, 314 Hammond street; H. Frederick Lesh, 955 Beacon street; Nelson Hallett, 12 Devon terrace; Annah W. Cutler, 44 Montrose street; J. R. Leeson, 78 Glen avenue; Benis & Jewett, 101 Union street; Mrs. Frank Edmonds, 98 Lake avenue; Newton Centre Garage, 792 Beacon street; Harry P. Stimpson, 110 Parker street; Alfred E. Emery, 70 Waverley avenue; Walter I. Woodman, 217 Bellevue street; George H. Waterman, 116 Old Orchard road.

No one appeared at hearings on Edison Co. petitions for poles on East Side Parkway, Lewis street and Ionia street, and upon the laying out of Chesley road under the betterment act.

At the hearing on taking land for sewer in Keldeden road, Waban, Frederick Parsons and George F. Huntress entered objections and a remonstrance was also received from estate of H. F. Ross.

While President Blanchard attempted to have them in favor of laying out of Adams street extension and of Chandler street under the betterment law heard before those who objected, it was not possible to do so, and from what was said it might be thought that several speakers were both in favor and opposed to the proposed improvement.

John M. McMullen wanted to know the cost of the work, Miss Glidea and Mary A. Ready said that they wanted the street fixed up, new sidewalks and drains, Anne Charlton wanted the street fixed, Ann J. Quinn objected to the present condition of the street, Patrick Drennan thought it ought to be repaired, Michael Maguire wanted the sidewalk repaired and John J. Eustis told of the troubles the residents had in reaching their homes "up to their knees in water." Mr. J. P. Keefe said that the improvement was needed but as the grade was to be raised 18 inches, and his land was already below the street surface he believed it would be a damage to his property. He also said that some land was to be taken for the improvement and he objected to giving the land and also paying assessments.

Mayor Childs sent in a long list of communications including claims of Mrs. R. K. James for damages due to tarvia, Abbie D. Freeman for personal injuries, recommendations of $300 for plans for new city garage, $900 for establishing a tuberculosis dispensary, $250 for use of automobile by paymaster, $710 for police work during vacation period, that tax levy be credited with $7000 from sewer assessments, for $10,000 additional for Maintenance of streets, $1820 for laying certain water mains, and the recommendation of the Playground Commission that taxes be abated on Metropolitan Water land at Newton Centre in consideration of its use for playground purposes.

The invitation of Charles Ward Post, G. A. R., to attend the usual Memorial Day services was accepted and President Blanchard urged the members of the board to honor the Post by their presence.

The board of health sent in a recommendation for a sewer in Auburndale avenue and petitions were received from S. Lipton for common victualler license on Watertown street, Nonantum, Cartoof & Co. for common victualler license and pool room on Centre street, Newton, Joe Bonte for pool room at West street, Nonantum, Joseph DeAngelis to operate jitney busses between Newton and West Newton, from Joseph Arduino for a minor's license, from Mrs. Minnie Boudrot for pool room on California street, Nonantum, from the Telephone Co. for attachments on Aspen avenue, Braeland avenue and Church street, from W. H. Combs for sewer in Simpson terrace, G. A. Field for sewer in Montvale road, A. A. Kneeland for sewer in Gibson road, Henry F. Guild street sprinkling on Carver road, A. D. W. Sampson for sprinkling St. James street, Warren et al for sprinkling Glen avenue, Pratt et al for sprinkling Gibbs street, French et al for sprinkling Forest avenue, Hayward et al for sidewalks on Hyde street, Moir et al for sidewalks Woodbine street, Wetherbee et al for laying out of Terrace avenue, Susan F. Morrill relative to land taken for widening Washington street, and Mrs. F. H. Putnam to move buildings from Pine Ridge road to Plainfield street, Waban.

On recommendation of committees wagon licenses were granted Joseph Corsi, Joseph Thompson, and William

Few persons in this city apparently understand the power and influence which could be exerted by residents of Middlesex County, if that power and influence could be efficiently organized. For many years there has been a vague feeling that a so called "county ring" controlled the politics and business of the county and that it was hopeless to attempt to make any change, particularly as the work seemed to be fairly well done. The direct primary however, seriously affected the old time methods of selecting county candidates and the advent of the Progressive party split the Republicans in halves, with a result that the Democrats carried the county for Wilson in 1912 and again for Walsh in 1913. Last year the Republican ticket was successful, but only after a struggle. The coming year will witness a strong contest for the Republican nomination for sheriff, probably a contest for the Republican nomination for county treasurer and possibly one for County Commissioner. The old line politician will view this prospect with alarm, but the younger element believe that it means an opportunity for a change which will prove highly beneficial to the county.

A few words about Middlesex County may be of interest. This county only exceeded in the state in population and wealth by Suffolk county, has a population of 669,915 and a valuation of $800,000,000. It is larger than 13 states in the Union, and equals the state of Oregon in population. The city of Somerville alone has as many people as the entire state of Nevada. In other words Middlesex county has a population equal to that of Nevada, Wyoming, Delaware and Arizona, which have eight senators at Washington. It is as large as any two of the following states, Idaho, New Mexico, Vermont, Utah and Montana. It cast as large a vote as the state of Maine. Residents of this city should take some interest in the affairs of a county in which they live and vote.

Governor Walsh's vetoes of the liquor transportation bill and the so-called "dirty milk" bill, both on technical grounds, are hardly creditable to His Excellency, either as a man or as a politician. The failure of the liquor transportation bill will not be relished in this city where the evil of the present situation has been more marked than in other places. While the situation outlined by the Governor in his veto message are possible, they are hardly probable, and it is so marked an attempt on its face to manufacture a reason for a veto that the governor is hardly entitled to support by friends of the temperance cause.

The agitation over the milk question for the past few years has shown that the state needs legislation which will guarantee clean milk and the bill which the governor has just vetoed was as mild a measure in that direction as has yet been drawn. Every householder ought to be assured of clean milk and with fully 65 per cent of all the milk produced in this state, passing the test, there ought to be authority to compel the 35 per cent of careless, indifferent producers to come in line.

Alderman Calkins deserved considerable credit for the settlement of the matter of track location for the Elevated Company across Commonwealth avenue near Lake street, and which will allow great improvements to be made in handling the traffic at that important transfer point. The whole matter was almost at a deadlock thru the insistence of some of the aldermen that the location order should include certain restrictions, which the Company would only agree to, if placed in another way. The Graphic pointed out some weeks ago, that the position taken by the aldermen amounted to practically nothing, for, if any change was desired in the future, the city government of that time would have full authority to make changes, no matter how iron-clad the agreement was made at the present time. The method adopted whereby the land to be used for the transfer station has been conveyed to the Company subject to restrictions preventing its use for car barns and repair shops, covers the matter in the best possible way.

The new regulation prohibiting the standing of vehicles in Nonantum square is a step in the right direction but only a step. The Middlesex cars should be taken out of the square and safety zones should be established for the large number of persons who persist in standing in the middle of the street while waiting for the Boston cars.

It is a matter of deep regret that the city government finds itself unable to pay full salary to the late city solicitor, Winfield S. Slocum during his last illness, for his long and faithful service fully deserves that slight recognition. The matter, however, is covered by ordinance, which allows full pay for one week and half pay for a further period of three months. Other city officials, who have been ill, have come under its provisions, and there is no way in which an exception could be made in the case of Mr. Slocum.

The suggestion that the morning of Memorial Day ought to be reserved from sports in honor of the dead is excellent, but it would be still better to change Memorial Day to the last Sunday of May or the first Sunday in June, and make it a holy day in very truth.

The movement to erect a garage for city automobiles near the City Hall ought to be a money saver for the city. The present method is inconvenient and expensive.

MRS. DEGEN DEAD

Mrs. Annie M., widow of the late Henry D. Degen, died suddenly last week Thursday at her home on Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre, having been sick only a few hours.

Mrs. Degen was the daughter of Joseph A. Lloyd and was born at Lynn. She was 77 years of age, and had been a resident of this village about 28 years. She was prominent in the affairs of the Deaconess' association in the missionary societies and other organizations connected with the Methodist Church, of which she was a staunch member. She was a member of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, and had taken a great interest in all the social and philanthropic activities of the village and city.

She was also a member of the Lynn Historical society and had been greatly interested in the history of New England, retaining her membership in the society up to the time of her death.

She leaves a daughter, Mrs. John Quincy Adams of South Orange, New Jersey, and a son, Mr. Bertrand V. Degen, who resided with her. Funeral services were held at her late residence on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. W. E. Huntington, D. D., officiating, assisted by Rev. George H. Parkinson and the interment was at Pine Grove Cemetery, Lynn.

H. J. Dooley has purchased from W. T. Hennes, the eight room single house and corner lot of 7500 sq. feet of land, situated at 42 Oakwood road, Newtonville. John T. Burns & Sons were the brokers. This modern Dutch Colonial house and lot are rated at $8500.

John T. Burns & Sons, Inc., have sold for Louis Stanton to J. H. Pratt, a parcel of land on Bacon street, Newton. Said lot contains 4500 sq. feet and is valued at $1650.

Mr. A. Doble, formerly of Newton has sold through John T. Burns & Sons, Inc., his stucco and shingle cottage on 62 Pine Ridge road, Waban, to L. A. Breck, who buys for occupancy. House, garage and 9000 feet of land assessed for $6400.

DEATH OF MR. STEARNS

Mr. Gordon Weld Stearns, a resident of this city for a number of years, died Tuesday evening at his home in The Hollis, after several weeks illness. He was a native of Cincinnati, Ohio, where his family are quite prominent, and was but 34 years of age. Mr. Stearns was engaged in business in Boston as a broker. Ten years ago he married Miss Miriam V. Hobart, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kirk W. Hobart of Sargent street and is survived by his widow and one daughter. It is a sad coincidence that while his brother, Mr. Minot Stearns was visiting him on Sunday, he received a telegram from Cincinnati, informing him that his father, Mr. George H. Stearns of that city, had passed away. Private funeral services for Mr. Gordon Stearns were held yesterday morning at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Hobart on Sargent street. Rev. H. Grant Person of Eliot church officiating and the interment will take place at Cincinnati, O.

LARGE BEQUEST TO GRACE CHURCH

The will of the late Charles W. Emerson, who died quite suddenly on Easter Sunday has been filed at East Cambridge. Hon. A. R. Weed and Mr. George M. Weed are appointed trustees and after bequests of annuities to several old employees, the bulk of the estate is to be kept in trust for the benefit of Mr. Emerson's sister, Mrs. Mary D. Mead, the widow of the late Dr. J. A. Mead of Waterbury. At her death $15,000 was bequeathed to Newton Hospital, $10,000 to the N. E. Peabody Home for Crippled Children and the balance, estimated at $400,000 is bequeathed to Grace Church, in which Mr. Emerson has always taken a deep interest. This bequest is said to be the largest amount ever left to any church in this diocese.

GIRL MISSING

Miss Birdie Hannon of 19 Baker park, Roxbury, has been missing since last Friday. She is described as 5 feet 6 inches tall, weight about 130 pounds, with auburn hair. She was wearing a black suit, blue and white waist and black hat with pink trimmings. A person answering to this description was noticed in Newton Centre asking passersby for work and it is possible others may hear from her.

THE NEW MORALITY

Mr. George Creel of New York and Denver, addressed a meeting held at "Players' Hall, West Newton on Sunday, April 18th. His topic was for "New Morality." He spoke somewhat as follows: "I was speaking this afternoon with a gentleman who criticised me for addressing an audience this afternoon at a Y. M. C. A. on the subject of Suffrage, and he reminded me of some of those good old people whom I always term as having Mason fruit heads. They seem, when they reach the age of discretion to close themselves up entirely from the world, and are not willing to accept new thoughts and new admissions, especially on this question of Suffrage."

"This New Morality is a vote in favor of decency and Justice. The only evil results that have come from this is from the blackguardism and slanders of the Easterners who come to our State of Colorado, stay for a few weeks and then return and tell Boston what a failure Suffrage is in the West. A woman who does not want the vote is only hindering her own advancement. She needs the vote in order to enable us to reach the goals of democracy and happiness."

"This question has involved a tremendous machine and we are going to take this machine and manufacture a new quality, the quality of Justice. A vote for Suffrage is a vote for equal Justice."

"The objections to suffrage are mostly humorous. They say the woman's place is at home, but still there are eight millions of working women in this country employed in factories, canneries, laundries and other lines of work. In the face of that condition you can still claim that a woman's place is at home. Not long ago I was talking with a gentleman whose greatest asset seemed in the fact that he was one of the Morgan partners. He attempted to show me the error of my ways and attempted to impress on my mind that the home was the woman's sphere. I made a statement that the home had changed and that the State was over-perilled and needed her assistance. He inquired my reasons for this remark."

"It had been so long since I had been asked kindergarten questions that I had to stop and think for a few moments before answering. I told him that a few years ago the women had to do the spinning at home in order that people might have clothes to wear. The question of the education of the child is not taken care of in the home. The State now has charge of this and makes laws as to what age a child shall enter school and at what age he shall be permitted to leave school, the length of sessions and so on. We have health laws, pure food laws. We have franchises which tell us how much we shall have to pay for light and for water, two things which formerly had to be taken care of in the home."

"He answered, 'Do you mean to tell me those things are possible?' I answered that they were actual, and he said, 'My dear what are you coming to?' There is the type of a man who had had his head in a Mason fruit jar, and what we call the intelligent vote. We need the woman to help us in our municipal housekeeping, to take charge of those portions of the work which are of vital interest to her, the health laws, the education laws, the pure food laws. We need her to insist that our streets be kept clean and to interest herself in these problems which are neglected partly because man does not have the time to attend to them with his other occupations."

"Some say that women will change when they get the vote, but you know I have stood outside the polling places and watched women going to vote and have seen them looking exactly the same when they came out as when they went in."

Mr. Creel also told many amusing instances of the way various problems had been handled in Colorado during the time they have had equal suffrage. He also told of their efforts to aid those who had gone wrong and who had been inmates of their institutions, and also of the great work done by Judge Lindsey in behalf of the young people. He criticised the opposition of the manufacturing interests to their efforts, particularly those interests which were controlled by men from New York and New England.

He said that he was personally interested in suffrage only from a standpoint of justice.

CAFETERIA SUPPER

The Cafeteria Supper which was held Wednesday evening in the parlors of Central Church was a great social success, and there was a large attendance.

The dining-hall presented an unusually attractive appearance, being beautifully decorated for the occasion with festoons of a luscious oysteria, and the young ladies of the parish served as waitresses. The supper was under the direction of Mrs. Fred E. Mann and Mrs. Strong.

One of the most enjoyable features of the affair was the excellent program of music furnished by the Central Mandolin Club, composed of Dr. Harold O. Hunt, Messrs. Donald Hunt, Everett Judson, Carl Schipper, Guy Wyatt, Cuthbert Carey and Joseph Byers, mandolins; William Marshall, guitar, and Fred E. Mann, pianist.

The proceeds were for the benefit of the Sunday School picnic and for the Sunday School baseball nine, of which William Otis Hunt, Jr., is captain.

Nature Supreme.

Not all the product of artificial greenhouses are so lovely as that of the fields, the country garden, the fence rows, the first roses, the daffodils, the arbutus which hides under the hillside leaves, the first buds of the rhododendrons and the other forms telling of the life blood drawn direct from the earth, while poor mankind has to take all second hand.

The Best Attachment.

Boys in forming life attachments should not overlook the association of that fellow, Will Power.—Omaha Bee.

"THE OXFORD AFFAIR"

The members of the Girls Friendly Society of Grace Church, entertained a large audience on Wednesday evening in the parish house, when they presented their latest dramatic success, "The Oxford Affair."

The young ladies who took part in the performance acquitted themselves most creditably and there was no stage fright. The cast included Miss Elizabeth Olivigne in the role of "Mrs. Oxford," the widow of Jack Oxford, who enjoyed herself in spite of obstacles; Miss Florence Leavitt, as Miss Oxford; Miss Grace Edwards, who was very attractive in the role of "Dorothy Howe" her niece; Miss Phyllis Ashton, as "Edith Waterfall," and Miss Price as "Helen Waterfall," were equally good in their respective roles. Miss Agnes Bogstad portrayed the character of "Miss Barnstable," and Miss Jeannette Clary, as "Ellen," a maid and Miss Sarah Halfrey as "Mary," a maid, did some very clever acting.

The ushers included the Misses Jennie Tynan, Veronica Lallermund, Louise McManus, and Fanny Penney. A vocal selection was rendered by Miss Elizabeth Olivigne, accompanied on the piano by Miss Jeannette Clary.

Mr. Irving Plummer played piano selections from the acts. The audience was very enthusiastic in showing its appreciation and the entertainment was a great success.

N. H. S.

At the last meeting of the Boys' Debating Club of the year the following officers for 1915-16 were elected: president, Charles Noble; vice-president, Merrill Campbell; secretary-treasurer, Albert Palmer.

The Juniors and Seniors went to the Assembly Hall Monday morning. Mr. Adams spoke to the pupils about matching pennies, walking on lawns, and such subjects.

Tomorrow at three o'clock Newton plays the fast Mechanic Arts baseball nine on Cladfin Field. On Monday morning at ten o'clock Newton again faces the strong Brookline team in her third league game, and the second and last one played with Brookline. This contest will also be on Cladfin Field.

A week from today, June 4, Dorchester High will send their nine over to Newton to try and get the better of the Newton boys.

The Girls' Debating Club, named the Portia Club, has formed a Triangular League with Somerville and Brookline. There will certainly be some interesting debates next year. This year the Girls' teams defeated the boys in each of the three schools.

Tomorrow night in Temple Hall, Newtonville, the Senior Reception will be held. Russell's orchestra will furnish the music for the dancing. In the past all tickets have been one dollar apiece, but this year the price is seventy-five cents single, one dollar for two.

The three lower classes have been invited to purchase tickets, and attend.

Joseph A. Hagar, editor-in-chief of the Dynamo, called a meeting of the Senior members of the Dynamo staff and the Senior Dynamo committee to order at one-forty Wednesday. The next issue of the school paper was discussed, and different people were suggested to write for it. Charles Capon was asked to take charge of the School Notes Department.

As Miss Wennerlund has gone to work, President Stickney read her report of the previous meeting. Mr. Thurber, head of the English Department, said that this was the last Senior assembly. The reason for this is that the Tech. College pupils will have English this period. Wilbur Noyes reported for the Gift Committee, and his report was accepted. Charles Parlin, president of the Student Council, spoke on the work of the Grounds Committee.

"With the aid of the Forestry Department," Parlin said, "and the willing efficient help of the Freshmen the grounds are now in very excellent condition, and we must keep them so."

President Stickney asked the Seniors to co-operate with Charles Bryson, chairman of the Grounds Committee, in helping the good work, by refraining from dropping bits of paper, or lunch and the like, anywhere except in the barrels provided for the purpose.

Mr. Palmer requested the Seniors to pass quietly down stairs, and make as little noise as possible outside, as the other classes were reciting. But where were the Seniors going? To have their pictures taken on the front steps by Champlain. The proofs have arrived, and the pictures of the class of 1915 are very good.

The Seniors had a thoroughly enjoyable time at the reception given them by the Juniors last Friday afternoon. The one-act farce, "Per Telephone," was very well acted, and extremely funny. The telephone, called by the frightened Irish maid "an infernal machine," caused a lot of trouble; especially when the young man proposed to say "good-bye" girl over it. The cast was as follows:

Mr. Guy Harding, in love with Nan George Hayes

Mr. Ned Austin, Mary's fiance

Miss Nan Cuzzins ... Miss M. Reeves

Miss Mary Halcome Miss May Jefford

Norah a servant Miss D. Cunningham

Before the play Miss Diviny and Miss Colby played piano solos, and Miss Champlain danced. General dancing and refreshments in the library, with Davis at the piano, ended a delightful afternoon. The library was decorated in orange and black, and had in the same colors "1915" at one end and "1916" at the other.

At the Wednesday morning assembly, Rev. A. J. Muste, of the Newtonville Central Congregational Church, addressed the boys of the school on "International Peace." The speaker was very interesting, and if what he said was possible it would be great.

Harris made a beautiful one-handed catch in the seventh inning of the Brookline game on Tuesday. Keller pitched a fair game, and struck out seven. It was a remarkable coincidence in the Waltham game that three flies were hit and caught in one inning; the first fly being captured by the left fielder, the next by the centre fielder and the last by the right.

VETERANS ENTERTAINED

The pupils of the Bigelow school held Memorial Day Exercises on Wednesday afternoon, having as their special guests, the members of Charles Ward Post 62 G. A. R. and about twenty of the veterans were present. The program included singing by the school, address of welcome by Henry Bartlett, flag drill, the Gettysburg address by Dorothy Drmon, a salute to the flag, recitation by Mary McEnroy, singing by Mrs. Agnes H. Fairchild and an address by Mr. C. Peter Clark of Newton Centre. An interesting part of the program was the presentation to the school of eight flags, one for each room, by Mrs. Franklin E. Smith in behalf of Sarah Hull Chapter D.R.

At the close of the program light refreshments were served the guests of honor.

PRESENTED WITH GOLD WATCH

On Friday evening, May 21 in Circuit Hall, Newton Centre, a surprise party was tendered Father Haney, by the Holy Family Sodality, of the Sacred Heart Parish.

The occasion marked the 10th anniversary since Father Haney assumed the spiritual directorship of the sodality.

The presentation of a gold watch and $100 in gold was made by Mrs. Hugh Burns, prefect of the Sodality. Following a musical program a collation was served, bringing to a close an evening much enjoyed by all present.

NORUMBEGA PARK

With great success, Norumbega has inaugurated its nineteenth season as Greater Boston's finest outdoor amusement resort. Ever since Saturday the opening day, a constant stream of patrons have entered the park to admire the magnificent spring floral display and to exclaim over the luxuriant shrubbery. In the great steel covered open-air theatre a very fine vaudeville program is the attraction. Heading the bill are Monahan and Dolly introducing some clever skating novelties; Port and Delacy in an old time comedy sketch are very entertaining. Wentworth, Vesta and Teddy the Dog present an act full of peculiar antics and fun. The Jollifiers in a big laughing farce entitled "The Soldier and the Nurse" keep the crowd in roars with their comedy. Burns and Foran dancers of great ability together with some very fine moving pictures make up an excellent entertainment. Sunday evening a splendid program of photo plays and sacred vaudeville has been arranged. Memorial Day the American Cadet Band has been engaged for a patriotic concert in the Band Court.

THE POP SEASON

The annual season of Pop Concerts in Symphony Hall opens next Tuesday evening, June 1st, and will continue until Saturday evening, July 3rd. The season is unusually short this year owing to the trip the Boston Symphony Orchestra made to San Francisco where it has been giving a series of thirteen extraordinary successful concerts in Festival Hall at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. The Orchestra left on Sunday, May 9th, and returns Monday, May 31st. The Orchestra will comprise sixty-five members of the Symphony Orchestra, as large an organization as many of the real Symphony Orchestras in Europe and in this country. The programmes, as they have always been will consist of music in its lighter and more attractive phases, waltzes, marches, selections from comic operas and musical comedies as well as a few standard pieces now and then from the classical repertoire which time has made very popular.

TREMONT THEATRE—D. W. Griffith's spectacle "The Birth of a Nation" with this week's presentation at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, rounds out the final week of its second month in the Hub. With no sign of abatement in the interest aroused by the daily performances of this big production the indications are that the piece will continue there for a record run as far as spring and summer theatrical offerings go in this section. If you have not seen "The Birth of a Nation" you have missed the most astonishing achievement in dramatic portraiture introduced to the American stage. Imagine 18,000 people visualizing a story of intense human interest and dramatic purposes and then add 3,000 horses ridden by some of the most reckless and daring riders in the world dashing in great cavalades over picturesque roads and through war-torn valleys and plains and you can begin to form a vague idea of the scale upon which this narrative is unfolded.

SATURDAY BASEBALL

The City of Newton now has regulation baseball diamonds at the following places: Allison Park 1, Cabot Park 2, West Newton 1, Newton Lower Falls 1, Newton Upper Falls 1, Newton Highlands 1, Newton Centre 1, and Waban 1.

There are junior diamonds which are not regulation size and which can be used only by boys' teams at Stearns, Boyd, Islington, Newton Lower Falls and Newton Centre.

Practically every Saturday there are four to six teams which cannot be accommodated.

The Playground Department in assigning permits for the various regulation baseball diamonds proceeds on the plan that local teams have first chance. If there are several local teams of equal strength, the permits are distributed to each one in turn.

On Saturdays, teams made up of men and young men who cannot play during the week receive the preference.

If a local diamond has not been asked for by the Wednesday preceding Saturday, teams from other Newton districts which cannot be accommodated in their own districts are shifted over to such localities which are open.

Permits are issued only upon written application. Applications blanks will be mailed from the office of the Playground Department. These should come in not later than the Wednesday preceding the game.

Permits are sent out on Thursday and copies are sent to the Police Department. The police officers of the districts collect these permits during the game and make notes on the conduct of the teams.

The conduct of local teams and visiting teams on the playgrounds and in coming to and from the playgrounds is noted, and if the department is not what the citizens demand, permits are not granted again to the team.

The Newton Catholic Club, Newton Upper Falls A. A. and the Newton Lower Falls A. A., on account of their strong organization and their ability to attract very large crowds of spectators, have been granted special privileges for their local diamonds. These privileges include first refusal of the local grounds on any Saturday when they desire to play on their home grounds. Their schedules are submitted by the 15th of May and all the dates shown are reserved for them.

Although this puts other teams in their locality at a disadvantage, the fact that these teams attract very large crowds of local citizens makes it a desirable procedure.

It is intended by this notice to have the baseball players of Newton appreciate the tremendous demand on Saturday and holidays for baseball diamonds in Newton and to have them see the justice with which the situation is handled, and that it would not be in the interest of all the Newtons if any of the diamonds remained idle on Saturday afternoons.

Naturally, only regularly organized teams can be considered and these men or boys who simply play scrub games cannot receive first consideration.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE MEETING

The Newton Anti-Suffrage Association held an interesting and enthusiastic meeting at the home of Mrs. W. B. H. Dowse, West Newton, Friday evening, May 21.

Dr. Ernest Bernbaum of Harvard University and Mrs. Harry Preston White of Brookline were the speakers. Both men and women were impressed by the logical and convincing arguments brought out to prove that women do not have the vote or are indifferent to the obligation.

Dr. Bernbaum asked one favor, that anyone in doubt as to where he stood, subscribe for two months to any paper published in a woman suffrage state, and read it with an open mind.

LEND-A-HAND DRAMATIC CLUB

Twelve years ago, a group of young women gave a performance of "As You Like It," for the benefit of the Boston Floating Hospital, the performance was so successful, and the audience so interested, that these young women, sixteen in number, were encouraged to continue what was first started as an experiment, and they formed what is known as the "Lend-A-Hand Dramatic Club of Greater Boston." Since that time new members have been added each year, until now the Club has a membership of one hundred and fifteen.

The object of the Club is to promote philanthropic interest in the young people, by engaging their services in dramatic work, the profits of which shall be devoted to charity.

During the twelve years since its organization, the Club has given ten plays, five of them Shakespeare plays, and three Gilbert and Sullivan Operas. It has cleared from these performances, and given away $4,644.25. These donations have been given to eighteen different charities, some of which are, "The Boston Floating Hospital," "Blind Babies Home," "Hale Endowment Fund," "Hale House and Camp," "Boston Normal School," "Children's Hospital," "Grenfell Mission," "Lend-A-Hand Central Office," Smith Students Aid, and the Carney Hospital social service work.

Besides this, the Club has added a small sum each year to its Permanent Fund, which was started a few years ago when a legacy of $250 was left it, and the Club now has the sum of $800 in the savings bank.

Four years ago the Club decided that it would be better, instead of working for different objects each year, as formerly, to concentrate its work upon objects of its own. Since that time, it has followed this policy, supporting its own work, and making gifts to the Lend-A-Hand Central Office, and to Parker Memorial. The Club applies only to the proceeds of the regular entertainments of the Club.

This year, besides the regular entertainment given to raise the money necessary to carry on the Club work, a performance of Dickens' "Christmas Carol," was given for the benefit of the Belgian Relief Fund, selling candy between the acts, the proceeds of which went to the Red Cross. This play was repeated four times for Settlements and churches. The Club also sent to the Belgian Relief Fund, over one hundred articles of clothing, etc.

The Club dues cover the running expenses of the Club, the annual dues to the Central Office, and appeals to the Central Office. The Club has also, since Dr. Hale's death, distributed flowers, each year on his birthday, April 3rd to the children in the Boston Children's Hospital.

The regular work of this charitable organization is now divided into three branches: namely, The Emergency Fund; The Smith College branch of the Lend-A-Hand Dramatic Club; The Club Vacation Work. The Emergency Fund, is a sum of money (usually $100) set aside each year, on which any Club member may call for such needy cases as may come to her attention, and many and varied are the cases where assistance has been given; some of them include milk for sick babies, three sets of artificial teeth for women, clothing and shoes for children so that they could attend school, a brace for a girl with a tubercular spine, and in one case, a dress for a young girl who had to lie for many months, was re-paired making her surroundings pleasanter, and helping to brighten her long days.

The Fund at Smith College, is in a measure, an Emergency Fund also. The Club has a committee at Burlington, of which President Burton is a member. This committee is on the lookout for girls who need a little assistance to help them thru the college year. In a number of cases it has made it possible for girls to finish their course, who would otherwise have to leave college.

The work which touches the Club most closely is the vacation work at "Journey's End." A few years ago two of the members, Miss Ethel Freeman and Miss Harriet Seaver, purchased an abandoned farm situated among the hills of western Massachusetts. This farm is in Ashfield, and consists of 100 acres of beautiful rolling land, largely woodland, a very much tumbled down old farm house, an apple orchard, and two brooks.

They have rebuilt the house so as to make it safe to live in, and incidentally more convenient, but still retaining all of the old farmhouse atmosphere. A large screened sleeping porch was added, a big wood shed, and a fine new barn in which were installed a horse and cow. To this farm for one month each summer, the Lend-A-Hand Dramatic Club sends a few working girls who need rest physically and mentally. The two hostesses do everything in their power to give the guests a happy as well as profitable two, or perhaps four weeks' vacation.

There are picnics, berry-pickings, drives and walks or just a lazy time on the porch if one prefers it. The buttermaking is always watched with great interest and sometimes the guests enjoy picking the vegetables, and at the end of the day, there is the walk thru the woods to the bathing pool where, when the brook is full, there is enough water in which to swim a few strokes.

There is always a short service on Sunday, at which one of Dr. Hale's sermons is read, and hymns are sung. The vacation work is on a small scale, compared with many of the larger vacation camps, for only a small number of girls can be accommodated at the farm, but the Club feels that the home atmosphere and simple quiet life has satisfactory results, and certainly the fine air and outdoor life has a splendid effect on the guests.

The annual meeting of this interesting organization, was held last week on Thursday at the residence of Miss Barbara and Miss Dorothy Wellington on Church street, Newton. Miss Caroline Freeman of Mt. Vernon street, West Newton, was elected president; Miss Grace Johnson of Brookline, vice-president; Miss Ethel Howland of Chestnut street, West Newton, treasurer; Miss Dorothy Secomb of Church street, Newton, secretary. Miss Amy Beal of Brookline was appointed on the executive committee, and Miss Florence Bacon of Newton, assistant treasurer of the Emergency Fund. There was a large attendance and at the close of the business meeting, an amusing "take off," on the "Tragedy of Julius Caesar," sung to popular music, was given by the members.

A SPLENDID CHARITY

USE THE NEWSPAPER

If a member of your family died, would you print the obituary on a billboard? asks the Lordsburg Liberal.

If your wife entertained, would you send an account of it to the theatre programme man? If you were to enlarge your business, would you advertise in a hotel register? If you were going to have a wedding in your family, would you get a handbill? You would send such items to a newspaper, wouldn't you? Then why don't you put your advertisements in a newspaper? Every man who uses a billboard is adding to nature faking. The newspapers build your town.—Exchange.

"THE EMERALD OF THE SHAMROCK"

A large crowd filled the Assembly Hall of the Newton High School last Saturday evening for the annual English Club Play. The authors this year was Miss Dorothy Speare, '15, of Review story fame, and the production in every way was a memorable one.

Before the curtain rose, a great many people read what was on the back page of the program, and found that the English Club is composed of Juniors and Seniors having an honor grade in English; that the culmination of each year's work has recently been marked by the presentation of an original play; and that this was the fourth production. The cast is picked from the Senior class. Also before the play started, the orchestra rendered a selection from "Chin Chin" by Caryll.

Slowly the curtains were drawn apart. The scene was an interior—"Living Room in the Carson summer home, Time: morning, Act 1". Two girls were discussing the people that were coming to their house party. Miss Susan Fessenden as one of these two, Betty Carson, from her first speech to the end proved her ability as an actress. Mabel Carson was well played by Miss Marion Lyons.

But the plot,—you hinted at a house party? Yes, the Carsons had invited Mrs. Theodore Bristol, a widow, to be their chaperon; their lovers; Allen Howland, interested in Mrs. Bristol; Elaine Manners, a famous dancer; Guy Marlowe, a stage child; Roland Witherspoon, a famous violinist; Kathleen O'Brien, interested in Allen, Donald Kingsley, Mabel's fiancé, gives her a beautiful and valuable emerald.

At the close of the second act, while Elaine Manners is doing a moonlight dance, this emerald disappears. Complications arise as Kathleen is found walking in her sleep, and being very superstitious, had that night spoken of an "Emerald of the Shamrock" to which she claimed Mabel's emerald to be, a stone stolen from her family and leaving behind the curse of the somnambulist. Mrs. Bristol from her arrival warned Mabel to take better care of her emerald. Allen offers to track the thief, and finds all clues lead to Kathleen. Guy Marlowe appears to say that he had hidden behind the screen during the dance, and had seen, while the lights were turned low, Mrs. Bristol steal the emerald. Allen finds the stone in Mrs. Bristol's smelling salts. Mrs. Bristol stoutly denies her guilt, but decides to give up trying to make Allan love her, and suddenly remembers a sister she must visit at once in the West. Allen finds he loves the wrongly accused Kathleen, and everything turns out beautifully.

The fourth act closes with four couples, Thomas Bigelow after many attempts has finally spoken his mind to Betty, and is of course accepted. "All's well that ends well." The servants, the French maid, the Irish cook, and the German butler, add lots of fun, and are, as usual, employed to let the audience know facts about the house party guests, and of their arrival. The male parts were all well taken, in fact the acting of the whole cast was admirable. Thomas Bigelow, nervous and trembling, trying so hard again and again to get out those three words, portrayed by Kenneth Bouve, brought roars of laughter, and well deserved applause. Donald Kingsley, Mabel's fiancé, in real life, Karl Nutter did his share of the good work. Cushman Nathan brought down the curtain, the German butler, Schmidt, as did also Clarence Chapin appearing in the role of Guy Marlowe, a stage child. Emery Leonard taking "Roland Witherspoon, a famous violinist" played the violin well, and lived his part of the man with "nerves." Norman Weaver, "Allan Howland, interested in Mrs. Bristol," carried off his share of the laurels.

Good for the girls. The authoress appeared as Mrs. Bristol, fascinating widow, society thief, and, with her musical laugh, made a hit. The Carsons I have spoken of, Nora O'Halloran, the cook and the French maid, Felice, were both well acted by Miss Emily Thompson and Miss Florence Weinberg respectively. Miss Hazel Sands lived her part "Elaine Manners," Ramona dancer, and her dancing delighted the audience into demanding more. Miss Sands is not only a graceful dancer, but has a charming personality. As the Irish girl, Kathleen O'Haven, Miss Abigail Leete was sweet and appealing.

The appreciation of the audience finally culminated in a rousing cheer for the talented Miss Dorothy Speare. The members of the English Department, who coached the play, deserve much credit for this year's excellent performance.

Between the acts, Miss Irene Forte '15 played a violin solo, as did also John Spalding, '15. These were both well received, and encores had to be given.

The Business and Stage Managers were—Barnum, Thomas '15, Henry Lawrence '15, Chase Kepner '15, and Bradford Sargent '15.

Guy E. Wyatt, Gordon Bancher, Harry Carley, Paul Faxon, Frank Dorney, Philip Horne, Arthur Pierce, Alfred Turner, Carleton Brown, and Roderic Blood acted as ushers.

Dancing in the gym. until eleven-thirty gave the pupils a chance to congratulate the cast, and dance with members of it; this was greatly enjoyed by all. The matrons were as follows: Mrs. F. J. Fessenden, Mrs. C. E. Kelsey, Mrs. W. M. Leonard, and Mrs. E. Ray Speare.

MINSTREL SHOW

A most successful Minstrel Show was given by the Boys of the Tremont House Friday evening, May 21, at Lincoln Hall. That the boys took their parts remarkably well was shown by the applause of the large and appreciative audience. One of the pleasing features of the entertainment was the part taken by John Proctor, the seven year old son of Mr. John Proctor of Hale street, who from the gallery represented the echo in the song "I Want to Go Back to Michigan," and then went singing up the aisle to the platform. Others who took part were, Mr. Johnson, Interlocutor, John Holt; Rastus, Joseph Russell; Bones, John Moran; Tambo, Joseph Meredith; Sambo, David Fisher; Little Pete, Edward Hughes; Snow Ball, Joseph Ryan; G. Washington Jones, Ralph Springham; Remus, Harold Walker; Uncle Ned, Daniel Waugh; Uncle Tom, Andrew Ryan; Rufus, Henry Lane; Uncle Mose, Thomas Lane; Uncle Joshua, William Irving; Dockstader, Robert Burdsky; Intermission was followed by a musical sketch, "The Little Cafe," the cast being as follows: Head waiter, John Moran; Cashier, Miss Toodles, James Fitzgerald; Sing Lee, John Holt; Dottie Dimple, Alfred Haigh; Flossie, Sidney Coffey; Farrier Fontana, Harold Yates; Floretta, David Fisher; Herr Schultz, George Duke; Emerson, chauffeur, Robert Burdsky; Mary, a wife, John Meredith; Mrs. Newell, William Walker; Mr. Newell, Francis Fitzgerald; Miss Lonesome, Arthur Sharp; Colleen O'Shea, John Proctor; Signor Italiano, Lewis Jenerazio; Mr. Mutt, Joseph Ryan; Mr. Jeff, Harold Walker; and the Chorus from Tokio, Charles Doyle, Michael George, Sam Walker, Charles Crowley, Arthur George, Lawrence Wicorek and Leon Wicorek. The waiters were Ralph Springham, Edward Hughes, Dan Waugh, Henry Lane, Thomas Lane and William Irving. Music was furnished by Miss Viola Doyle at the piano, Mr. Joseph De Grasse, violinist, and Francis Daley, drummer.

POP CONCERT

The Pop Concert given Thursday evening in the parlors of the Newton Methodist Church, was an enjoyable social affair, and was very largely attended. A program of excellent musical merit, the trained artists, was in two parts, and included, "Poet and Peasant and Light Cavalryman," by the church orchestra assisted by some members of the Ladies' Symphony Orchestra of Boston, under the direction of Mr. Charles G. Whitcomb; contralto solo, by Miss Bertha Carter Flinn; cornet solo, by Mr. J. Arthur Whitcomb; orchestra selections; Trio, Scintille from Lucia, by Mr. James Korman; Mr. Theodore Vonderluek, and Miss Rachel Harvey; soprano solo by Miss Kathryn Myers; violin solo by Miss Florence Ferguson; baritone solo by one who thought, many many years ago, that he could sing. Miss Elsa M. Leonard, accompanist. The program closed with finely rendered selections by the orchestra and the audience showed its appreciation of each number by frequent applause.

Refreshments were served, and the young ladies who served as aides included the Misses Glenor Allen, Margaret Donaldson, Lucy Hawkins, Flora Hubbard, Lillian Jefford, Marian MacLean, Helen Forsythe, Inez Moore, Ann Weed, Gertrude Pike, Verna Vining, Frances Simpson, Louise Scott, Lucy Griswold, Doris Hubbard, Margaret Douglas, Dorothy Simpson, Louise Green, Jennie Eriksson and Vera Forsythe.

The successful affair was in charge of a committee under the chairmanship of Mr. Charles G. Whitcomb, which included Messrs. H. Samuel Leonard, Vernon B. Sweet, D. F. Fisher Barber, and John W. Cox.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Prorogation now depends upon how much time the Governor wishes to take before signing or vetoing several important matters which are now before him. If he acts promptly on them, the Legislature will probably shut up shop this week, otherwise it will have to adjourn over the holiday. Newton will be interested in the defeat of the Governor's bill to retain the franchise corporation tax by the state instead of allowing its distribution as at present to the different municipalities. As I pointed out a few weeks ago, this measure would affect this city about $35,000 and would add about 41 cents to the tax rate.

The Weston bridge bill has been amended to require Newton and Weston to maintain the bridge after it is rebuilt. Mr. Clinton H. Scovell of Newton, who did some expert accounting work for Governor Foss has again been given leave to withdraw on his bill for compensation for that work.

Governor Walsh's veto of the "clean milk bill" calls attention to the present law on the matter, but fails to state how some of those laws operate. The act of 1914 for instance prohibits the Milk Inspector from issuing any permits to milk men until the local board of health has personally visited the dairy and given the farmer a clean bill of health on the premises. Agent Russell of the Newton board of health informs me that just one firm sending milk and cream into this city has filed with him a list of 1200 dairies from which they receive their milk ranging all over Massachusetts and New Hampshire, and as under the law this firm cannot legally sell milk in this city without a permit, the situation is obviously absurd. The milk question in this state has been handled in a most childish manner, with no consideration whatever for the consumer and the weakest kind of knuckling to the farmer and to his grange.

J. C. Brimblecom.

THE LEXINGTON PAGEANT

Many Newton persons are greatly interested in the Lexington Peace Pageant to be held on June 21-22 and 23 for the benefit of the National Red Cross.

AFTERNOON MEETING

The Anti-Suffrage Association of Newton held an afternoon meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank A. Day, Sargent street, Newton, on Thursday, May 27. The speakers were Mrs. Foxcroft of Cambridge and Mr. Underhill of the Mass. legislature.

The increasing interest in these meetings is proving that men and women are arousing to the fact of the danger to the state in the woman-suffrage movement which has allied with it the socialist agitation. Mr. Underhill gave positive proof of this.

Later in the day a large number of women from the different Newtons attended the Rose Supper given in Ford Hall, Boston. There were over 800 at the tables, largely made up of the wage-earning women of Boston, who are interested in the Anti-Suffrage movement. The tables were beautifully decorated with red roses and a fine band enlivened the scene. Mrs. A. J. George of Brookline the first speaker was never more brilliant, Miss Marjorie Dorman of New York, spoke convincingly from the wage-earning woman's point of view, and Senator Matthews of New Jersey prophesied an overwhelming defeat for suffrage in New Jersey and wished Massachusetts the same good fortune.

The tea that was to have been given at Mrs. William Lucas' in Newtonville, is postponed until fall. Instead, there is to be a meeting in the evening in Temple Hall, Newtonville, for both men and women speakers and date to be announced.

ANNUAL MEETING

The Annual Meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Newton Y. M. C. A. was held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock and there was a very good attendance.

Reports of the various committees were read, showing that the Auxiliary had progressed during the year, the bills having all been paid and a balance remaining in the treasury. The following officers were elected from the coming year: Mrs. I. U. Townsend, president; Mrs. Franklin W. Gansse, and Mrs. Louis E. Moore, vice-presidents; Miss Bertha Moore, secretary; Mrs. T. A. West, assistant secretary; Miss Emma Page, treasurer. Appointed on the various committees were Miss Josephine French, Devotional; Mrs. Allan Emery, Flower; Mrs. F. A. Briggs, House; Mrs. Willard L. Sampson, Social; Mrs. W. B. Volcott, Pantry; Mrs. Charles D. Kepner, and Miss Page, Boys' Supper; Mrs. John T. Lodge, and Mrs. C. H. Peterson, Finance; Mrs. William T. Rich, Mrs. J. W. Blaisdell and Mrs. Emma Day, managers for one year; Mrs. George Nash and Mrs. Edward J. Cox, managers for two years; Mrs. George W. Barber, Auditor.

Mrs. George A. Brown, secretary of the State Committee of Auxiliaries, spoke in appreciation of the splendid work done by Mrs. Gansse, the retiring president, and Mrs. Kepner read a note of thanks written in verse. Mrs. Brown also called attention to the high standing of the Newton Auxiliary in both Massachusetts and Rhode Island, and welcomed the new president. After the business meeting an interesting entertainment was given which included a piano solo by Miss Hutchinson, soprano solo by Miss Eleanor Eddy, with piano accompaniment by Miss Martha Gifford, and a soprano solo by Miss Myers. A pantomime play entitled "A Man in Distress." The characters were admirably portrayed by Mrs. Cotton "The Man"; Mrs. Frank Briggs, "A Literary Woman"; Mrs. Barber, "A Tough"; Miss Burnham, "a slow coach"; Miss Gladys Stevens, "a suffragist"; Miss Mauguierie Collins, "a Dancer"; and Miss Gladys Forbush, "a Widow with Two Children."

The bride was exquisitely gowned in white satin and a princess point applique veil which fell the length of a court train. She carried a shower bouquet of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

To carry out the color scheme the maid of honor was gowned in deep pink carrying roses and the bridesmaids in light pink carrying baskets of pink sweet peas.

Many guests attended the reception which followed the ceremony at the beautiful home of Mrs. Whitney, an aunt of the bride. The house and tent were superbly served with refreshments. A profusion of pink roses and smilax formed the background for the newly married couple as they received their friends assisted by Mrs. Horton and Mr. and Mrs. Walworth.

don on his last trip home he devoted to the work of the Belgium Relief Commission, in which, as elsewhere, he left the clear imprint of efficient service that later, after his death, called forth the special commendation of H. C. Hoover, the American engineer in charge of the Commission.

He was heart and soul in his work, with an absorption that amounted almost to a passion for further knowledge and deeper research, but his energy was happily guided by a keen intelligence and tempered by a splendidly balanced mind. There could be but one result—and in the five short years of his professional activities, he attained an enviable place in the confidence and regard of his engineering associates and superiors.

The following cablegram to his parents from Edgar Rickard, President of the Mining and Metallurgical Club, of London, one of the many much messages received after the catastrophe, voices the feeling in professional circles and reflects the sentiment that prevailed among the men with whom he had come in contact:

"Allow me to express personally and in behalf of all mining men here deep sympathy in your bereavement. The loss of so brilliant and promising an engineer to our profession has cast a shadow upon us."

Typically American, in the best sense of the term, in the vigor and enthusiasm of his life, Brodick upheld in his death the proudest traditions of American manhood. He died in the ranks of Christian noblemen who chose to give their places to women and children on the ill-fated "Lusitania" and to meet calmly and cheerfully the death that awaited them when the ship went down.

His friends who felt the inspiration of his life and work, and so mourn him most deeply, have found in his death an even greater inspiration that will be cherished in their hearts long after the memory of his short life has become dimmed with advancing years.

The body arrived Monday in New York on the steamer New York and was met by Mr. Brodick's uncle, Mr. C. N. Brodick of Waltham, and brought to the family home on Bowdoin street, Newton Highlands, where private funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Louis A. Parsons, rector of St. Paul's Church officiated and the Apollo quartet rendered several selections. The interment was at the Newton Cemetery.

A. O. U. W.

General Hull Lodge, No. 123, A. O. U. W., celebrated its Annual Lobster Night at Dennison Hall, Newtonville, on Friday evening, May 14th, following a regular meeting.

There was an unusually large attendance of those who have a weakness for "broiled lives," and it is needless to say that all got their fill, as the lodge is a liberal provider.

One application for membership was received, making eighteen since the first of the year, and there are still others coming.

Brother John Dorney, P.M.W., as the delegate from General Hull Lodge, made his report on the doings of Grand Lodge session, held in April, which showed the Order to be in a most flourishing condition and much interest manifested in all parts of the jurisdiction.

Our Annual Strawberry Festival will take place in June, at which time the members will again entertain their lady friends.

The date will be announced later.

we are sure that it is going to do us great good, we should consider it very carefully, and think also of the loss of time, strength and energy. Mrs. Churchill showed how votes for women in different states had failed to bring about the desired results. Suffragists claim that equal franchise will remedy the drink evil, but Prohibition existed 22 years before we had Suffrage, and Mrs. Churchill thinks that it is general education that brings about Prohibition. The Suffragists also claim that if women had the ballot it would be of great help to the working woman. What has it done for the working man? Unions have done more for the working man. Another claim of the Suffragist is, that votes for women will go far towards abolishing White Slavery, but in California where women have the vote the conditions are so bad at the present time that it is not safe for girls to go there alone either to the Exposition or in search of employment. Dr. Walter E. Fernald, who is superintendent of the institution for feeble minded women at Waverley, says that 80 per cent of the prostitutes are feeble-minded and how could votes for women possibly help that class, that are mentally deficient. Dr. Fernald claims that mental deficiency is the most hereditary thing in the world, and he believes in the segregation of the feeble-minded. If such classes could be segregated for a century, prostitution would be practically done away with.

Mrs. Churchill maintains that men are giving better laws in Massachusetts for the protection of women and children than any other state and the conditions are better than those in any of the Suffrage states.

When the full responsibility rests on men they do much better, than when they feel that the women are doing for themselves.

The Anti-Suffragists feel that the exceptional woman should do civic work, and the State is not suffering because the great majority of women do not vote. The great majority of women do not go to college, and yet the State does not suffer.

Women should do the work they are fitted for, unless as Dr. Sargent says, we turn the clock back 100 years.

Mrs. Churchill strongly advocates that it is the duty of every woman to use her influence on all the men with whom she may come in contact, husband, brothers and friends, to vote against Suffrage.

Mrs. Churchill spoke very fairly and her remarks were free from any unkind criticisms or antagonism to the cause of Suffrage. Her arguments were logical and convincing, and based on careful reasoning, and her hearers were greatly impressed by the interesting discourse.

Following the meeting the guests repaired to the dining-room where delicious fruit punch and refreshments were served. The decorations were especially attractive, and on the table was a beautiful centre-piece of white and purple iris in effective combination.

Mrs. Weeks was a most charming hostess, and the delightful social affair was a decided success.

The guests included many from Boston and Brookline as well as the Newtons.

SENATOR WEEKS A POWER

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Transcript in commenting on Republican politics has the following to say about Senator Weeks of this city:

Not only will efforts to create friction among workers of the Republican party fall, but the interchange of views which is now going on will lead to a scheme of general co-operation that will strengthen all branches of the Republican organization. In fact, the regular committees are just mapping out much of their work and are preparing a plan of campaign that will make use of all the agencies now in the field. Senator Weeks has been in Washington partly for the purpose of co-ordinating these various enterprises for the general welfare of the party and his work has been meeting with success. As in the Senate, Weeks is a general centre of appeal and advice and during his brief stay here he had conferences with all the leading men of the various political organizations. Indeed, the relations of Senator Weeks to the Republican National Committee, to the Republican Congressional Committee, of which he has been a member for years, and to the Publicity Association afford another manifestation of the fact already well recognized in Washington that almost all Republican political activity of constructive importance centres about the Massachusetts Senator. Whenever a little friction arises in the party, Senator Weeks is the man to whom all naturally turn for arbitration and harmony.

POLITICAL NOTES

Mr. A. B. Messer of Concord, a member of the Republican state committee will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for sheriff against Sheriff John R. Fairbairn.

There are rumors of Republican opposition to the renomination of County Treasurer Joseph O. Hayden of Somerville and County Commissioner Chester E. Williams of Weyland.

Mr. Paul Champagne of California street, Nonantum, has been elected a member of the executive committee of the Franco-American Club.

Mr. William J. Doherty of Broadway, Newtonville, has been appointed general manager of the Armstrong Transfer Company of Boston and will take control on June 1st. Mr. Doherty was born at Watertown in 1872 but has lived nearly all his life in this city. In 1889 he entered the employ of the Boston & Maine Railroad and served in many capacities until he retired in 1913 to accept his present office as superintendent of terminals for the Port Directors of Boston. Mr. Doherty served for six years as an alderman of this city and was a candidate for mayor in the fall of 1911.

ALDERMEN GRANT LOCATION

Fitzpatrick, pool room license to Walter Winn, a gasoline license to Richard I. Dwyer on Park street, sewers were authorized in Watertown street, Newtonville, in John street, Beecher place, Beecher terrace, and Langley road, Thompsonville, Playstead road and Indiana terrace, street sprinkling ordered on Park avenue, Everett street, Albemarle road, Woodside road, and Oakwood road, water mains to cost $1820 authorized in Allen terrace, Bellevue street, Hazlehurst avenue, Morton road, Simpson terrace and William street, hearings assigned for June 7 on taking land for sewer in Avalon road and for rounding corner Hyde and Centre streets, grants of $43,272 authorized for expenses to June 30, and Telephone attachments granted on Aspen avenue and Edison poles on Lewis terrace.

Leave to withdraw was granted on license petitions of Estate Thomas Boudrot for pool licenses, Thomas F. Green for pool licenses Joseph Donahue for wagon license, and on petitions for sewer in Boylston street, and for the laying out of Harrington street and Algonquin road. An ordinance prohibiting the standing of vehicles in Nonantum square between 7 A. M. and 7 P. M. for more than 15 minutes was passed after Alderman Bartlett had explained the need for the same. Alderman Bartlett explained the order authorizing payment of $62.33 for salary of former city solicitor W. S. Slocum, saying that this amount was due the estate for the last 13 days of Mr. Slocum's life at the rate of half pay authorized by the ordinance. $27.60 was also authorized to be paid for certain expenses incurred for the Law Department during Mr. Slocum's life.

Alderman Pratt stated that bids had been received for the heating and ventilating of the Claffin school house in Newtonville and $11,659 was appropriated therefor.

An order authorizing sale for $150 of land on Newworth road, Waban taken under tax title was unanimously refused passage on report of the Finance committee that the former owners had redeemed their rights to the property and after Aldermen Bartlett and Murphy had called attention to the fact that the price fixed was about one sixth of the assessed value of the land.

An order recommended by the Public Works committee for $400 for cleaning Laundry brook and which the Finance committee had disapproved was recommitted to the Finance committee for further consideration.

Alderman Rice opposed an order for $300 for plans for a city garage because he believed that the Buildings Commissioner ought to prepare such plans without additional expense to the city.

Alderman Cabot thought this would interfere with his regular work and Alderman Murphy suggested that if the Commissioner drew plans like these he might be called upon to draw plans for school houses as well.

Alderman Rice said that the amount was usually allowed on the cost, which in this case was estimated at about $5000. The order was then passed with Mr. Rice voting alone in the negative.

Orders granting the Boston Elevated Railway Co. and the Middlesex & Boston Company track locations across the north roadway of Commonwealth avenue at Lake street were taken from the table and new drafts submitted by the City Solicitor were adopted after Alderman Rice and the City Solicitor had explained that the differences between the committee and the Elevated Co. in regard to restricting the land so that car barns nor repair shops would be erected, had been arranged by having such restrictions included in the deed to the land rather than made a part of the order granting the track location.

The board adjourned at 9.19.

Changes of the road have given their assurance that nothing of this kind would be installed. The new station would be away with the present difficulty of cars standing in the street, would result in abolishing the present shelters, would do away with two of the four tracks now in place at this point and would lessen the danger from the hundreds of automobiles that daily pass this point.

It will be necessary to do an immense amount of filling before the actual work of constructing the station can be started. The work is estimated to cost $60,000.

COUNCIL FIRE

The Newton Camp Fire Girls are planning a Grand Council Fire on Wednesday, June 2, at 7 P. M., on the Newton Centre Playgrounds, Newton Centre, (if stormy to be held the following evening) with the present difficulty of cars standing in the street, would result in abolishing the present shelters, would do away with two of the four tracks now in place at this point and would lessen the danger from the hundreds of automobiles that daily pass this point.

The Camp Fire organization endeavors to show that the common things of daily life are the chief means of beauty, romance, and adventure. It organizes girls and women to promote wholesome, happy life in the home and community. Each Fire or group consists of from 6 to 20 girls, and the leader of each group is called Guardian of the Fire.

In response to numerous requests, the Newton Camp Fire Guardians have decided to give this Public Exhibition, and it is hoped that everyone who can, will take advantage of this excellent opportunity to see some of the Camp Fire activities.

MR. DOHERTY APPOINTED

Mr. William J. Doherty of Broadway, Newtonville, has been appointed general manager of the Armstrong Transfer Company of Boston and will take control on June 1st. Mr. Doherty was born at Watertown in 1872 but has lived nearly all his life in this city. In 1889 he entered the employ of the Boston & Maine Railroad and served in many capacities until he retired in 1913 to accept his present office as superintendent of terminals for the Port Directors of Boston.
